FLETCHER ORDERS MAAS TO STOP FIGHTING ON PAIN OF BOMBARDMENT

VERA CRUZ, April 22.—General Maas, military commander of the Mexican federal troops here, is reported to have fled from the city with his family. Many of the city officials are also said to have fled.

A scout returning from the center of the city early today reported that he and many of the city officials left town with their families in carriages yesterday shortly after noon.

The Mexican troops were left practically without officers, to act as they chose.

Today what is left of Maas' command is scattered throughout the central portion of the city. A large number have deserted.

Late last night many of the Mexican troopers were found in a drunken stupor wandering about the streets. Two small liquor stores were sacked by the men.

Fletcher gave just two hours' notice of his intention of landing forces yesterday. In fact only the consuls and the city officials knew of the impending attack. The inhabitants were ignorant of the meaning of the activity of the American ships observed in the harbor and flocked toward the water front.

Story of Battle

Six hundred American marines and bluejackets, under Captain Russ and Captain Fryer of the Prairie, and Captain Harlee and Lieutenant Murray of the Florida, yesterday took Vera Cruz.

The American forces landed at 11:30 a. m. on Terminal company pier No. 5, without meeting the enemy. A switch engine was captured and a squad sent to occupy the power house. Without incident the men proceeded to the cable office where the Mexican government censor and everyone in the building was taken. A squad was left in the offices to hold them against possible attack.

The troops proceeded. There still was no sign of opposition. They went in turn to the general telegraph offices, postoffice and customs house, all of which were seized.

Just at 12:25, a few moments after the customs house was seized, the first Mexican troops appeared. Apparently unmindful of the fact that Mexican soil had been occupied, and government officers taken by foreign armed force, Mexican soldiers, numbering at most 800, marched slowly toward the customs house from the principal street which leads from the Vera Cruz barracks. They wheeled toward the plaza, where they suddenly broke into squads and dashed into private residences and other buildings, windows of which commanded the customs house.

First Shot at 12:45

Precisely at 12:45 the first shot was fired. Mexican soldiers hidden in houses took a shot at a squad of marines. Instantly shooting became general. Machine guns were pointed down all streets and at points where Mexicans had sharpshooters in the buildings.

It was also necessary to train field guns on several buildings where citizens were on the roofs and were keeping up desultory fire.

Up to six o'clock no effort had been made to venture into the central portion of the city. It was believed the Mexicans had completely withdrawn at 4 o'clock. To guard against return, Captain Russ established outposts three to four blocks from buildings occupied, the strongest guard being about the barracks, which were entered without finding a soul shortly after 3 o'clock. During a slight skirmish between troops at the custom house and Mexicans stationed in nearby houses, a company of Mexicans occupied the tower of an old light house, which gave clean of those districts occupied by Americans.

A three inch field piece was trained on the tower under command of Ensign Cresep, of the Florida. The sailors took five shots at the tower. All struck squarely and amidst dust, flying bricks and debris, the Mexicans fled in disorder.

Threatens Bombardment

Vera Cruz will be bombarded today by the American fleet under Rear Admiral Fletcher if further resistance is shown the marines and bluejackets now in possession of the section of the city about the United States consulate, the customs house, cable office and the wharves.

This warning was sent to General Maas, military governor of Vera Cruz, and commander of the federal garrison, late last night.

When day broke today Captain Rush and Lieut-Col. Neville, commanding the landing force, controlled the water front and all streets in the vicinity of the consulate. They were content to hold what they had taken and made no advance toward the central part of the city.

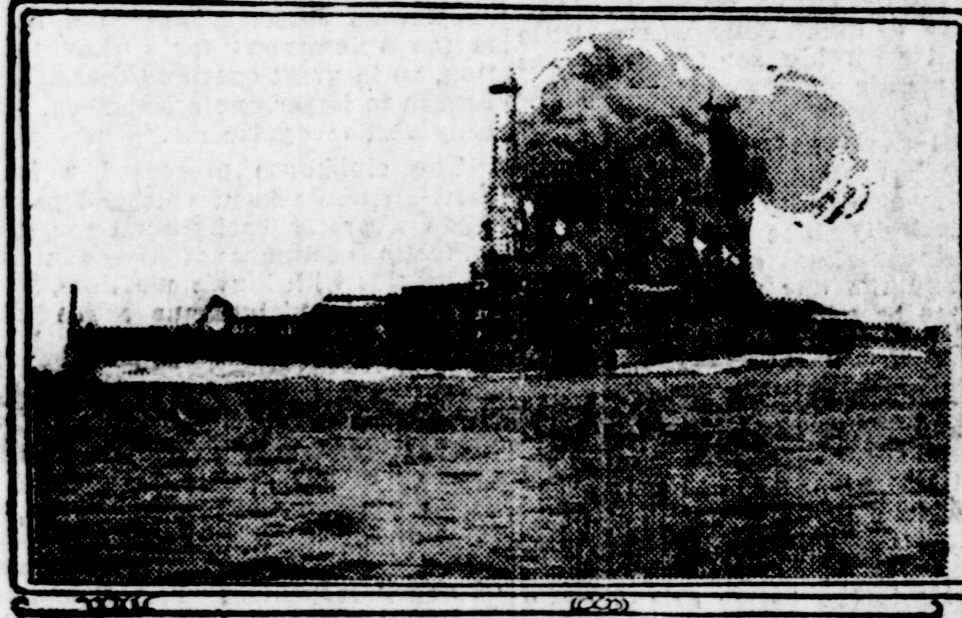

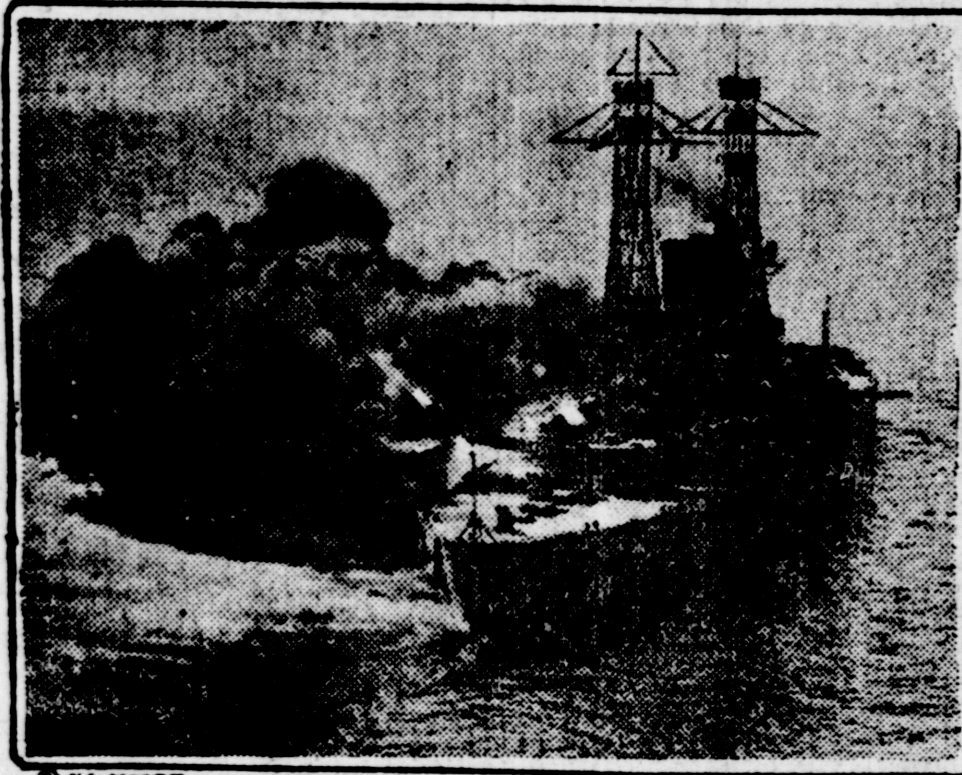

Rear Admiral Badger, commanding the fleet originally headed for Tampico, is now outside the harbor. The American forces will be able to land upwards of ten thousand, if necessary, and the complete wrecking of the town is threatened should the Mexicans resume the fighting.

Stop to Save Women

The city hall and the main plaza of Vera Cruz would have been taken by the Americans last night, but for the fact that there are hundreds of American women and children in the Hotel Dilencas on the main plaza. In the event of resistance it was feared the hotel might have been raided by Mexicans or set on fire in the fighting.

An old sport says the wrestling game is waning; so many seem to prefer the tango.

FEAR MASSACRE OF AMERICANS IN THE INTERIOR

Gravest Burden of Mexican Situation Is the Peril to Our Citizens

HOLD ARMY READY TO START

EXPECT HUERTA TO DECLARE WAR

Probable that He Will Make Vain Appeal to Powers for Aid Against the United States

BY JOHN E. NEVIN

(Staff correspondent of the United Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Over-shadowing everything else in the Mexican situation today was the position of the many Americans and other foreigners in the interior of that country.

Grave apprehension for them was felt by every officer of the administration.

Sinister rumors of anti-American massacres at several points have been circulated. They are, fortunately, not confirmed, but they served to add to the general fear that a bloody story of treachery will yet be told in connection with the events immediately following the land of Fletcher's marines and blue jackets at Vera Cruz.

Officials Anxious

President Wilson, at the White house, Secretary Bryan at the state department, and Daniels at the navy department, all were anxiously utilizing every avenue for news.

They tried to maintain an air of optimism, but failed to convince callers that it was genuine. They realized that the savagery of the native Mexican could hardly be restrained once he comprehended that Americans had invaded his country.

No word as to the plans of the administration was forthcoming early today. President Wilson himself sent strict injunction to his subordinates not to talk. There was to be no leaking of secrets of war.

There was a direct wire set up from the war department to the army docks at Galveston, where four transports with a brigade in khaki lay tugging at their anchors. Military telegraphers manned each end of the wire. Other wires were set up to the concentration camp at Texas City; to Fort Bliss and other strategic points on the border. The army was ready—far more so than ever in its history.

Despite the most recent developments it was stated at the White house today that while the situation is very grave the president still hopes that a general war can be prevented. He is almost alone in this view.

Expect Declaration

Officials expect Huerta to declare war within a few hours. If he does, it is expected that he will also personally appeal to the powers for help against the United States, thereby paralleling the action of Spain in 1898.

In fact reports are already in possession of the state department which indicate that Huerta has already appealed to Japan and Germany.

While it is not believed that there will be any foreign interference (in fact it is stated by no less an authority than the president and secretary of state themselves that there will be none), no chances are being taken. Bryan has personally kept the representatives of every government here informed of what is going on. In addition, our ambassadors abroad have been directed to explain to each government that there is no plan of territorial aggrandizement contemplated.

Praise Fletcher

Officially the capital is still without any of the details of the stirring events at Vera Cruz other than the meagre reports of Fletcher and Badger. Everyone is singing Fletcher's praise. He has met emergency after emergency with credit to himself and the flag.

Extraordinary precautions have been taken by the United States for the protection of Mexicans here. Instructions have been sent to officials wherever there are Mexican colonies, especially in the west, that the utmost care must be taken to prevent assaults.

CONGRESS PLACES POWER IN HANDS OF THE PRESIDENT

GOES THROUGH HOUSE WITH WHOOP

THERE IS PRACTICALLY NO DEBATE

Fifteen Minutes After Presentation It Is Law; Declaration of War Expected to Follow

BY BOND P. GEDDES

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Congress today placed President Wilson in sole and absolute charge of hostilities against Mexico. The resolution "justifying" his course and giving him unlimited power to use our military force, was passed by both the senate and house. It was sent to him for approval at once.

Congress expects that a resolution declaring war will soon follow.

Following passage by the senate at 3:20 this morning by a vote of 72 to 13, of the Mexican resolution, the house at 10:28 today took similar action by a viva voce vote.

Post Haste to Wilson

No roll call was demanded in the lower legislative body. A feeble chorus of "noes" was drowned in a thunderous volume of ayes, and the resolution was concurred in by the house and sent post haste to the president.

Less than a half hour was required for the summary action of the house. The resolution was laid before it at 10:16. Fifteen minutes later it was vociferously roared into law.

BADGER ARRIVES AND SHELLS VERA CRUZ OCCUPYING ALL CITY

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The White house made public today Admiral Fletcher's proclamation to the city of Vera Cruz. It is as follows:

The Alcalde Jefe Politico and The Citizens of Vera Cruz, Mexico:

It has become necessary for the naval forces of the United States of America now at Vera Cruz to land and to assume military control of the customs wharves at Vera Cruz. Your co-operation is requested to preserve order and to prevent loss of life.

It is not the intention of the United States naval forces to interfere with the administration of the civil affairs of Vera Cruz more than is necessary for the purpose of maintaining a condition of law and order to enforce such sanitary conditions as are needed to meet military requirements.

It is desired that the civil authorities of Vera Cruz shall continue in the peaceful pursuit of their occupation. Under these conditions full protection will be assured to the city by the United States naval forces.

It is enjoined upon all inhabitants and property owners to prevent firing by individuals from the shelter of their houses upon United States forces or upon anyone else. Such firing by irregulars not members of an organized military force is contrary to the laws of war; if persisted in will call for severe measures.

Dated: Vera Cruz, April 22, 1914.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 22.—(Bulletin)—Vera Cruz is now completely in the hands of United States marines. The federal soldiers have been driven out. The marines have been landed at Tampico.

This information was given out by Secretary Bryan at 1:20 today, following a previous announcement that Fletcher had renewed his attack upon the Huerta soldiers holding the center and outlying portions of Vera Cruz.

Under the guns of the fleet, which began a heavy cannonade at 8 o'clock this morning, the marines then pressed forward into the city, driving the federals back.

(BY BERNARD RUCKER, UNITED PRESS STAFF CORRESPONDENT, WITH ADMIRAL BADGER'S FLAGSHIP.)

VERA CRUZ, APRIL 22.—THE COMBINED FLEETS OF REAR ADMIRAL FLETCHER AND REAR ADMIRAL BADGER, (THE LATTER ARRIVED EARLY) THIS MORNING BEGAN SHELLING VERA CRUZ, KNOCKING DOWN THE HOUSES WHERE MEXICAN "SNIPERS" HAD TAKEN REFUGE IN ORDER TO PICK OFF AMERICAN MARINES. THE LIGHTER GUNS OF THE VESSELS WERE USED AS THE FULL BOMBARDMENT POWER OF THE FLEET IS NOT NECESSARY.

The bombardment started at 8 a. m. today after Rear Admiral Fletcher had sent an ultimatum to the mayor and other officials remaining in the city.

Fletcher demanded that the officials see that firing on the marines holding the streets in the vicinity of the consulate, the customs house, and the wharves cease and that business be resumed. While awaiting a reply the marines merely held the depot and customs house. They returned the fire of the Mexicans directed at them from the roofs of houses and the streets. Machine guns were brought into play and several adobe buildings were demolished.

Consul Canada today estimated the Mexican casualties in yesterday's fighting at between 100 and 150. All of the dead and wounded were natives of low caste.

General Maas, commander of the garrison here could not be found today and it was definitely learned that he had fled with his family. Two trains bearing American refugees arrived here from Mexico City today. TWO MORE TRAINS ARE ENROUTE, BUT THE RAILROAD IS BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN CUT BY THE FEDERALS.

While the fighting was in progress the mayor of Vera Cruz turned up and visited Consul Canada under a flag of truce. Nothing was accomplished in the conference which they held, however, and the marines began a house to house search for "snipers."

IN POSSESSION AT NOON

WASHINGTON, April 22.—All of the city of Vera Cruz was in the possession of the American forces shortly after noon today.

Three thousand American blue-jackets and marines were sent forward in formation of an extended crescent, driving the Mexicans before them out of the city.

Canada said: "All Vera Cruz was in our possession by noon." He also reported that the first and second sections of the train from Mexico City which carried women and children refugees, reached Vera Cruz safely before the fighting began yesterday.

Most of the refugees are in hotels and all are safe.

The big customs house warehouse caught fire during the fighting but the flames have been extinguished.

Canada has sent messages to all hotel keepers offering them full protection, and ordering them to reopen their establishments.

Major Catlin and 300 marines are supporting Lieutenant Colonel Neville, who is in command of the entire attacking force.

Consul Canada has no further report on casualties and it is not yet known whether any additional Americans have been killed or wounded. The report continues:

"So far I have been unable to communicate with the embassy at Mexico City, but I am hopeful that I may yet be able to do so."

Ships Cover Attack

"Major Butler and his command from Tampico are now ashore, and the Florida, Utah, Arkansas, Vermont, New Hampshire, South Carolina and Prairie are lying in close, using their guns. The Hancock with its marines has been reported. The American forces which commenced their general attack at 8 o'clock, are operating under the guns of the war vessels. We have no details of Mexican casualties but believe that up to 8 o'clock last night 150 Mexicans had been killed or wounded."

OLD COUNCIL HOLDS ITS LAST SESSION

Following Adjournment at Sparta, New Council Is Called to Order by the Mayor

SPARTA, Wis., April 22.—The old council held its last meeting in the city hall Tuesday evening to finish up their business. The meeting was called to order with all aldermen present. Reports of committees were listened to. The report of the city clerk, W. H. Blyton, shows a total expenditure of $31,974.52 for city purposes on 359 city orders. Upon completing its business the old council adjourned, and the new was called to order. Aldermen Burton, Sutherland, Bergman and

Steele were then sworn in. Bergman replaced F. E. Baldwin as alderman from the Third ward, and M. E. Steele took the place of Wynne Jones as alderman from the second ward. Mayor C. E. McMillan then announced committees for the ensuing year as follows:

Streets, sidewalks and bridges—Aldermen Kowitz, Jefferson, Brooks, Accounts—Aldermen Sutherland, Burton, Steele.

Finance and taxation—Aldermen Burton, Brooks, Jefferson.

Ordinances and resolutions—Aldermen Brooks, Smith, Bergman.

Printing—Aldermen Bergman, Smith, Sutherland.

SPOTLIGHTS

"DAMAGED GOODS"

Richard Bennett comes to the La Crosse theater for one performance, Tuesday, April 27, in Brieux's startlingly frank play, "Damaged Goods," which was produced for the first time in America on March 14, 1913, and which enjoyed a long and successful spring and fall engagement at the Fulton theater, New York.

"Damaged Goods" deals with the social evil and the "social disease" and has as its theme a subject which has hitherto been tabooed on the American stage. The principal character is George Dupont, a young man who is suffering from a terrible blood disease. In spite of his physician's warning, he marries while still suffering from the infection, and in the second act, the author shows the terrible consequences.

FRECKLES AND FREEDOM

By A. MARIA CRAWFORD

Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Ever since the days when they wore curls and pigtailed down their backs Polly Moore and Jane Sanford had championed the cause of Dan Cameron. Dan was not lovely to behold, for he had freckles and a shock of red hair.

The particular social set to which the small boys and girls of Dan's age belonged refused to admit him when he suddenly made his appearance in their midst. The snubbing accorded him by everybody except Polly and Jane, did not worry him in the least. He only laughed, called the boys "sissy" when they wore gloves or overshoes, and if they were foolish enough to disagree with him he proceeded to roll up his sleeves and thrash them until they were only too glad to be friends with him. Physical prowess impressed the girls, but they did not offer him the privileges of the juvenile elite. Polly and Jane were the exceptions. They refused to play games when Dan was not included, and at their own parties he was invariably the favored guest.

When he was nearly thirteen his family moved away, and when, four or five years after he had finished college, Dan returned to his childhood home, it was impossible to believe that the handsome, well-groomed young fellow could ever have been ornamented with hundreds of unsightly freckles and a mop of unruly red hair. The girls began pelting him with invitations. It was rumored that Dan's Uncle Alex had died, leaving him a splendid fortune, but even if he had possessed no wealth, Dan's good looks and charming manner would have insured him a welcome anywhere.

Dan's memory was evidently a good one. He courteously refused all invitations and spent his leisure time with either Polly or Jane. The girls were totally unlike except in their attitude to him. Polly was a little blonded with big soulful blue eyes and a certain sincere candor that was always expected to get her into trouble but never did. Jane was Juno-like with flashing black eyes and a cruel love of annexing everybody's beaux. Polly alone knew that Jane's engagement ring disappeared from her hand the day that Dan Cameron came back home.

"Jane will marry Dan. Just wait and see!" prophesied Kate Carter on the afternoon before the big masked ball at the country club. "She is supposed to be engaged to Cousin Dick Carter, and he is so silly about her that he is too blind to see her game. I hoped Dan would love Polly."

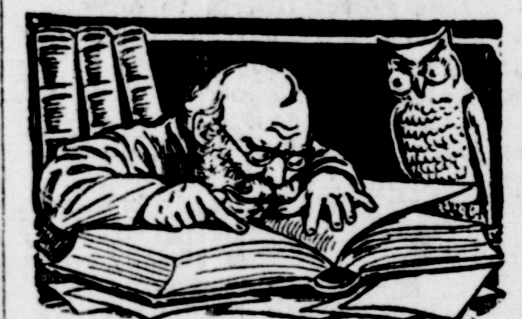

"Polly is the better of the two," declared Mabel Lupton. "Who would have dreamed that Dan Cameron with his freckles and awful hair could be magically transformed into a regular fairy prince? He has certainly paid us back in our own coin for our childish snubbing. He is polite to us but what a difference he makes when Polly and Jane are around."

"We were brought up with such absurd ideas of social prestige that the wonder to me is why we aren't even sillier than we are. Dan must laugh in his sleeve at some of our efforts to conciliate him. Isn't it too bad that we aren't born with the knowledge we have to acquire with such bitterness? I'll see you tonight at the club. What are you going to wear?"

"I wanted to wear Aunt Margaret's

Blood Tonic Has Important Meaning

Puts the Right Sort of Vim Where Most Needed.

To tone the blood means to enable it to throw off accumulated impurities, to increase the red corpuscles and to put the blood-making organs into such active condition as to produce that conscious sensation of what we feel as health.

This is the logical effect of using the famous blood purifier, S. S. S. Half the people you meet complain of weary muscles, stagnant brain, jangled nerves, and a wonderful desire to lay down and just quit. Most of these people have been using nervines that spasmolytic drugs, the nerves only to die down again, as they must. Avoid nerve stimulants. Bear in mind that this worn-out feeling is due to poor blood, to bacteria in the water you drink; to the multiplying of destructive germs in the blood faster than they can be overcome by the white corpuscles; and to what is known as auto-toxemia, that condition where the venous or impure blood accumulates faster than it can be replaced by the red arterial blood.

S. S. S. has long been famous as a blood purifier, and its action by elimination of the irritating poisons that infect the blood is one of the very important things to know. You can get S. S. S. at any drug store, but take no other so-called blood purifier. S. S. S. is purely a vegetable product, and you will make a great mistake to have some enthusiast palm off a mercury, arsenic or iodine of potash preparation that may do you irreparable harm.

It is prepared by The Swift Specific Co., 533 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and if you have any deep-seated or obstinate blood trouble, write to their Medical Dept. for free advice. It will be worth your while to do so.

shepherdess costume, but the skirt is too voluminous for turkey trotting, so in great coat and cocked hat I mean to impersonate Napoleon. Nobody will recognize me."

The clubhouse presented a brilliant scene. Jackson vine and palms made a pretty background for the fantastic costumes of the dancers. Milkmaids with king's courtiers, gypsy lasses in picturesque attire told the fortunes of mighty lords, Hollanders flirted with gallant Frenchmen, and a queen made merry with a murderous looking cowboy. Jane Sanford made the sensation of the evening in her daring costume of a snake charmer. From the sinuous folds of her black, red and gold garments jewels flashed like the eyes of angry serpents. Dan Cameron, recognizing her, felt a curious revulsion of feeling.

"I think Dan Cameron is in love with Jane," he heard somebody whisper just back of him. "Isn't she wonderful tonight?"

"Perfect," returned another voice, admiringly.

Polly Moore came into the ball room just then and almost unconsciously Dan started toward her. It was eminently fitting that they should be together, for by some chance trick of fate he had gone as Faust, and Polly was an exquisite Marguerite. Her fair hair fell in broad braids across her shoulders and the black ribbon that laced across her breast showed an under bodice no whiter than her own throat and arms. Her spiritual beauty, so directly in contrast with the lure of Jane, seemed to him just then like a cooling breeze from the mountains. In a flash the problem that had been perplexing him was solved. Jane, advancing quickly, laid her hand on his arm.

"Dan, which dances did you ask me to save for you?" she asked. "I have forgotten. Will you go with me to get an ice? It is certainly warm in here."

The little figure of Marguerite that had waited for her approaching lover, Faust, paused uncertainly, then moved quietly away into a crowd.

"Wake up, Dan!" laughed Jane. "Have I charmed you into stupidity?"

He smiled then and answered her as they moved together, a strangely handsome pair, across the polished floor. He had not shown any favor to one of the girls without offering the same courtesy to the other one. Polly had overheard Jane ask which dances he had wanted reserved for him, when the truth of the matter was that he had not even mentioned the ball to Jane. Polly would believe that he had slighted her, dear little Polly whose happiness to him at that moment seemed the only thing at that moment seemed the only thing worth while in the world. He left Jane and went in search of her, but Polly was nowhere to be found. He watched the floor eagerly, and between dances he looked for her in all sorts of strange nooks and corners. Marguerite had vanished. He knew that he loved Polly and he wanted her. A gypsy girl in flaming scarlet shook her tambourine at him.

"You had better come and dance, Faust, before the devil gets you," she said, tossing her black curls.

Dan glanced at her, then dropped down on a bench and lighted a cigarette. "If he has any difficulty in finding me, show him here."

"Aren't you having a good time?"

"No, I'm not. I feel a lot as I did when I was a kid here. I don't seem to fit in this crowd tonight. I used to laugh and pretend I didn't care, but I did."

The girl sat down beside him. "Do you care now?"

"Not for the crowd," he answered.

"Just for—Jane?" hazarded the gypsy girl.

He looked at her quickly. "Certainly not," he said, warmly, almost too warmly, he thought a minute later. "Jane is all right," he apologized, "but Faust—" He paused. "Faust, you know, loved Marguerite."

"The real Faust," suggested the gypsy.

"This make-believe Faust," he confessed. He felt that he must tell somebody of his love for Polly. He wondered why he had been blind so long.

"For a make-believe Marguerite?" questioned the merciless gypsy.

"For Polly Moore," said Dan, suddenly.

"Why, Polly loves—"

"Whom does she love?" He turned on her almost fiercely, tearing the mask from his face. "You know who I am. Whom does Polly love?"

"You."

She seemed only to breathe the word. Dan caught at her sleeve as she slipped away. The thin red fabric split in his hand, revealing a little black sleeve that was familiar.

His hand trembled a little as he touched her mask. The spangles glittered on her breast with her uneven breathing. She pulled off her curly black wig.

"You!" he cried. "Oh, Polly, I love you. I have hunted for you everywhere."

"I thought I could not be a real Marguerite without a Faust, so I slipped up stairs and put on an extra costume that somebody had brought for an emergency. I thought you loved Jane," she said softly.

He drew a deep breath like a man who shakes off a disturbing influence and is again free.

"I love you, Polly, only you," he said, and took her into the shelter of his arms.

ST. LOUIS, April 22.—Charles C. Spink, one of the best known sporting men in the United States, died this morning of stomach-trouble, just one week after the marriage of his son, Taylor Spink, who with his father published the Sporting News.

Get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store and put your stomach right. Stop being miserable—life is too short—you're not here long, so make your stay agreeable. Eat what you like and digest it; enjoy it, without fear of rebellion in the stomach.

Pape's Diapepsin belongs in your home. Should one of the family eat something which doesn't agree with them, or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or stomach derangement, it is handy to give instant relief.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

How the Pig Saved the Old Woman

EVELYN had seen some very cunning little pink baby pigs that day, and she thought it would be lovely to have a little pig as a pet. Jack didn't think it would be so nice.

When daddy came home Evelyn's first question was, "Daddy, don't you think it would be lovely to own a little pet pig?"

"I think," Jack added, almost before Evelyn had finished asking her question, "that pigs aren't nice pets at all. They grow up too soon, and they're their cunning baby looks. Don't they, daddy?"

"Yes," said daddy, "pigs are nicest on a farm. A farm wouldn't be complete without pigs, and the little ones are certainly very cunning."

"But just think how very lonely a little pig would be all by himself! And what would be more annoying, just think how he would squeal!"

"I don't believe," said Evelyn, "that I do want a pig, after all. Not as a pet, anyway."

"Now that we've decided that we won't have a pig as a pet, I think I will have to tell you the story of the old woman who did have a pig as a pet."

"This story shows how a pig's squealing, by the way, did once do a great deal of good."

"Once there lived an old woman all alone with her pig, and she had no great fault. She was very careless about fire and never cared where she threw her matches after she had lighted her fire."

"She made all manner of fun of the people who thought she was careless. But one time she learned a very good lesson, and she realized then that one cannot be too careful with fire."

"She was on her way to bed and before getting into bed lighted a fire at a little stove. Instead of throwing her match into the fire she threw it in the waste paper basket."

"The waste paper basket was full of scraps of paper, and slowly the match began to smolder. The old woman meantime went sound, sound asleep."

"Now, the pig had a basket to sleep in by the old woman's bed. He saw the smoke and thought it was a very queer smell. But as the old woman seemed to be sleeping so quietly he thought he would not disturb her just to find out what the queer burning smell meant."

"Suddenly it burst into flames. Then the pig set up the noisiest, most constant squealing you ever heard. The neighbors were all awakened by it, and seeing what the trouble was, the fire department was called right out."

"The old woman was saved, but if had not been for the pig's squealing, which was so easily heard, she would have burned to death. After that she was pretty careful where she threw her matches, and she was more devoted to her pet pig than ever before."

WISCONSIN'S PLACE
AS A ROAD BUILDER

There was contemplated an extra session of the legislature at which
one of the things to be considered
was a reduction of the Wisconsin
good roads fund. That, of course, was upon the ground that they were excessive. Perhaps it is impossible to say just what is and what not is excessive in the way of road expenditures, but something may be haz-arded upon a comparison of the progress of various states. The Good Roads Year Book informs us that the following state funds for road work are now available:

Iowa $7,310,000
New York 6,900,000
Minnesota 5,672,000
North Carolina 5,000,000
Michigan 4,183,000
Ohio 3,500,000
Maryland 3,700,000
Pennsylvania 3,500,000
Oregon 3,288,000
Massachusetts 2,447,000
North Dakota 2,365,000
West Virginia 2,286,000
Virginia 2,000,000
Maine 1,540,000
Mississippi 1,720,000
Illinois 1,300,000
WISCONSIN 1,230,000
South Carolina 1,000,000

In this list, which includes every state fund of $1,000,000 or more, Wisconsin is SEVENTEENTH. This does not make us followers, but the record reflects the impression that we have become criminally progressive.

Why not intervene in Colorado? It seems the greater war, with Dollar despotism outranking Huerta's for lawlessness. Armored trains mock liberty.

MILWAUKEE'S NEW OFFICERS SWORN IN

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 22.—
Milwaukee's new administration—composed largely of the same men who have been in office the past two years—were sworn in yesterday to begin another term. An innovation this year was the offering of prayer
at the council session. City Clerk
P. F. Leuch suggested the idea in the hope that it would become a permanent practice.

Mayor G. A. Bading, re-elected after one term will have a number of offices to fill. The mayor offered no hint as to who would be chosen for the places.

One of the most important places to fill is that of health commissioner. Dr. F. A. Kraft, the present commissioner, has said that he will not accept the place for another term. Besides this office there are several others which pay all the way from $1,800 to $4,000 per annum.

What Spider Indicated

When Mark Twain, in his early days, was editor of a Missouri paper a superstitious subscriber wrote to him saying that he had found a spider in his paper and asking him whether this was a sign of good luck or bad. The humorist wrote him this answer and printed it:

"Old Subscriber—Finding a spider in your paper was neither good luck nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising, so that he can go to that store and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."—Pittsburgh Chroni-

WOMEN KILL 11 SALOONS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 22.—
Women's votes put seventy-seven more saloons out of business in Illinois yesterday, complete returns showed today, in the second test of the suffrage attitude toward the liquor business in Illinois this month.
Danville, the home of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, and the largest city voting yesterday, remained wet by a majority of 181, though women cast a dry majority of 1,088.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Unsexed

It doesn't unsex her to toil in a factory

Minding the looms from the dawn till the night;

To deal with a schoolful of children refractory

Doesn't unsex her in anyone's sight;

Work in a store—where her back aches inhumanly—

Doesn't unsex her at all, you will note,

But think how exceedingly rough and unwomanly

Woman would be if she happened to vote!

To sweat in a laundry that's torrid and torrid

Doesn't subtract from her womanly charm;

And scrubbing the flags in an echoing corridor

Doesn't unsex her—so where is the harm?

It doesn't unsex her to nurse us with bravery,

Loosing death's hand from its grip
on the throat;

But ah! how the voices grow quivery,
quavery,

Wailing: "Alas! 'twill unsex her
to vote!"

She's feminine still when she jugs
the crockery,

Bringing you blithely the order you give;

Toil in a sweatshop where life is a mockery

Just for the pittance on which she can live—

That doesn't seem to unsex her a particle.

"Labor is noble"—so somebody wrote—

But ladies are known as a dangerous article,

Woman's unsexed if you give her the vote.

Following Directions

There was a terrible noise coming from the direction of the dining room and the fond mother, alarmed, rushed in. On the floor her son,
aged 10, was going through all manner of contortions—somersaults, both backward and forward. Bang, bang, he went.

"Willie! Willie!" she cried, "What are you doing? You'll—"

For a moment Willie paused in his gymnastics. "Oh, it's all right, mother!" he gasped. "You see, I forgot to shake my medicine before taking it—like you always told me to do. So I thought I'd shake myself up as the medicine was inside me."

Not Tender Enough

A noted New York architect said
of a recent criticism of skyscrapers:

"The criticism is not fair. It is prejudiced. Hence it will do more harm than good—like the remark to the waiter.

"Walter, confound it! This steak isn't tender enough!"

"Not tender enough?" the waiter snarled. "Ah, what do you want you expect? Do you want it to jump up and hug and kiss you?"

Leaving it to the Pitcher

Not in ten years has Christy Mathewson been taken out of the box by McGraw, unless possibly under some condition where strategy demanded
a pinch hitter, or a man batting from the other side of the plate, or a speedy base runner. This may surprise a million or more fans. Box scores may be produced to dispute it. But that is a case where the box scores are wrong. When Matty comes out, he takes himself out. He knows when he is not "right," and is not ashamed to admit it, and McGraw leaves it

"I believe that squares accounts,"

said Warrington, speaking to Craig.

"If you hear of me in America, in Europe, anywhere, keep away from the place I'm likely to go. Tell him,"

with an indifferent jerk of his hand

toward the insensible Mallow, "tell

with the greatest good pleasure.

Sorry I can't wait."

He turned back to his rickshaw, wiped the blood from his face, put

on his hat and coat, and ordered the respectful coolie to hurry back to

town. He never saw Mallow or Craig

again. The battle itself became a hazy incident. In life affairs of this order generally have abrupt endings.

And all that day Elsa had been waiting patiently to hear sounds of

him in the next room. Never could

she recall such long weary hours.

Time and again she changed a piece

of ribbon, a bit of lace, and twice

she changed her dress, all for the purpose of making the hours pass

more quickly. She had gone down to luncheon, but Warrington had not come in. After luncheon she had sent out for half a dozen magazines.

Beyond the illustrations she never knew what they contained. Over and over she conned the set phrases

she was going to say when finally he came. Whenever Martha approached,

Elsa told her that she wanted nothing, that she was head-achy, and wanted to be left alone. Discreetly
Martha vanished.

To prevent the possibility of missioning Warrington, Elsa had engaged the room boy to loiter about downstairs and to report to her the moment Warrington arrived. The boy came pattering up at a quarter to six.

"He come. He downside. I go, he come topside?"

"No. That will be all."

The boy kowtowed, and Elsa gave him a sovereign.

The following ten minutes tested her patience to the utmost. Presently she heard the banging of a trunk-lid. He was there. And now that he was there, she, who had always taken pride in her lack of feminine nerves, found herself in the grip of a panic that verged on hysteria. Her heart fluttered and missed a beat. It had been so easy to plan! She was afraid! Perhaps the tension of waiting all these hours
was the cause. With an angry ges-<

RADICAL STEP TAKEN TO PREVENT LANDING OF ARMS FOR HUERTA

By WILLIAM G. SHEPHARD, United Press Staff Correspondent.
MEXICO CITY, April 22.—American troops have entered Mexico at Vera Cruz.

The above message in code was received at the New York office of the United Press yesterday afternoon. The strictest censorship had been in effect all day. Messages filed from New York to either Mexico City or Vera Cruz were held up at Vera Cruz if they contained anything pertaining to the critical situation at Vera Cruz. Thus all efforts to inform correspondents in Vera Cruz and Mexico City regarding the determination of the government at Washington to prevent the landing of arms and ammunition for Huerta were futile.

The coded message sent by Shephard was the first direct news received from the scene of action and was necessarily brief. Though it was obviously impossible for him to get any details past the censor, it was believed that Rear Admiral Fletcher had acted on the carte blanche order sent him early today by Secretary Daniels.

The department had informed him to take whatever step was necessary to prevent the landing of arms and ammunitions expected at Vera Cruz on a German steamer. Under the circumstances the obvious method was for Fletcher to land marines and take charge of the customs house.

ABANDON TAMPICO PLANS

That Vera Cruz and not Tampico will be the gathering place of Badger's entire fleet was indicated this afternoon when it was learned that Admiral Mayo and all the ships with which he is holding a position off Tampico have either started or are about to start to join Fletcher at Vera Cruz. It is understood that the cruiser Des Moines will remain at Tampico but that all of the other ships of Mayo's division will gather at Vera Cruz and be held here until Badger decides just how the entire fleet shall be distributed and to what ports ships will be sent.

BRYAN NON-COMMITTAL

A United Press correspondent told the secretary that a code dispatch had been received by his organization stating that troops had landed at Vera Cruz.

"The state department has no information to that effect," the secretary declared. The secretary flatly and positively declined to answer any questions as to what orders had been issued to Admiral Fletcher. "I have nothing to say on the matter of procedure," he said.

"Would you be willing to tell us whether any orders have already been issued in the Vera Cruz matter?" he was further questioned.

Somewhat angrily, he retorted: "When I say I have nothing to state, I think that ends it."

SHIVELY ADMITS RUMOR TRUE

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Confirmation of the United Press Mexico City dispatch that the American troops had landed at Vera Cruz was made Tuesday afternoon by Senator Shively, acting chairman of the foreign relations committee, who asserted he had just been informed of it. He refused flatly to state the source of his information.

Explaining the occupation of Vera Cruz, Senator Shively said: "Haste was necessary because of the approach of large shipments of arms and ammunition. We would have been placed in a ridiculous position had we permitted fifteen million rounds of ammunition and hundreds of pieces of field artillery to have gone through our lines of battleships with the tremendous danger that they later would be used in firing on troops."

"The seizure of Vera Cruz, the seaport of the City of Mexico, where the headquarters of the Huerta government is located, is most important and is far more important than would have been the seizure of Tampico."

"There was a rumor that the Huertistas intended destroying the railroad from Mexico City to Vera Cruz but I do not see what they would have gained by it, other than possibly to have made the transportation of our troops from Vera Cruz to Mexico a little more difficult."

"I want particularly to emphasize the fact that the seizure of Vera Cruz is not an act of war. It is an act of reprisal. Of course, should the desire exist in the minds of the Mexicans, they can construe it as an act of war but then they could seize any act of ours that it might please them to, and declare that it constituted an act of war. If they are itching for battle, we might as well know it now as a little later, for they would certainly force us to fight."

ORDER TROOP MOVEMENTS

HOUSTON, Texas, April 22.—Army orders to Gen. Funston at Texas City at noon directed that "the fighting fifth brigade" embark at Galveston at once for Tampico. The Fourth, Seventh and Nineteenth regiments compose the brigade, which returned to Galveston by train yesterday from Houston.

Other troops ordered to embark were the Sixth cavalry, Third field artillery, the Second battalion; fourth artillery; Company D, Signal corps; Second battalion of engineers, less Company F; ambulance Company No. 3.

The Third field artillery at Preston is scattered along the border. Funston has recommended to the war department that the aviation squadron at San Diego be brought to Texas City at once.

TO WED STEPMOTHER

KENOSHA, Wis., April 22.—Jos. Lichtenstein took out a marriage license today to wed Mrs. Katharina Lichtenstein, his stepmother. The groom gave his age as 35 and that of his bride to be 34. His father, when an old man, had married a young woman.

DESTROY AMERICA FLAGS

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 22.—A dozen big American flags used as decorations for the Fiesta de San Jacinto, in progress here, were torn from a building in the Mexican quarter today by Mexicans. Pennants and other decorations on the building were undisturbed.

Twenty-five members of the La Crosse Manufacturers' & Jobbers' club, at a meeting with the Fourth of July, Homecoming and Made in La Crosse committee at the La Crosse club last night, promised enthusiastic support for the celebration.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The navy department this afternoon ordered another regiment of marines from Philadelphia to Vera Cruz. The marines are expected to leave for the front tomorrow.

Fletcher Acts on Own Initiative While Senate Is Quibbling Over Word- ing of Resolution

MET WITH OPPOSITION IN HOUSE

Republicans and Democrats Fight Over One Word for Hours Before Passing the Measure

LODGE WANTS INSULT OVERLOOKED

Says that the Tampico Refusal to Salute Is Not Important and Is Called by Shively

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 22.—Even while the actual occupation of Vera Cruz was taking place, under the discretionary authority reposed in Rear Admiral Fletcher by Secretary of the Navy Daniels, the United States senate continued to hem and haw over the wording of the resolution introduced for the purpose of authorizing the president to employ the army and navy to secure the nation's respectful treatment by the Huerta government.

Passes House
The resolution met with a better reception in the house of representatives, although its wording was bitterly opposed there. But after comparatively brief debate, it was passed by a vote of 337 to 37, at 9:09 last night.

The argument in the house centered about the use of the word "justified" in the resolutions in connection with President Wilson's movement of force against Huerta. The republicans who objected to the bill demanded the substitution of the word "authorized" in place of "justified."

When the senate convened at noon, Senator Lodge opened the attack on the wording of the resolution. He held out for a substitute, placing the blame for the drastic action of the United States not upon Huerta alone, but upon a series of insults and injuries sustained by Americans all through Mexico. The Vergera incident and others of similar nature were recited by Lodge as being more important than the arrest of marines at Tampico from a boat bearing the American flag, and the subsequent refusal to salute the United States colors in apology.

Shively Spokesman
Senator Shively, head of the foreign relations committee, was the chief spokesman for the resolution as drafted. He insisted that the immediate passage of the resolution might save the country from war.

Shively said the Lodge preamble also minimized the insult to the flag at Tampico.

"It should not be underestimated," he said. "The flag is not a piece of tawdry bunting. If such indignities as these should pass without conspicuous redress there would be less safety in Mexico than ever for United States citizens."

This caused an outburst of applause and President Marshall ordered the sergeant-at-arms to clear the gallery, which gave the most boisterous demonstration.

"I want the resolution so narrowed down that should Huerta die or resign, or be deposed, or salute the flag, all we will have to do will be to come back home," said Shively.

At this point applause was led by two women in one of the galleries and Vice President Marshall read another letter on such demonstrations, while a doorkeeper escorted the two women out.

"I am not only in favor of sending the flag to Mexico for reparation for an insult," said Senator Bradley of Kentucky, a republican, "but I also favor sending the flag to protect Americans from rapine, robbery and other outrages."

Introducing his anti-intervention resolution, Senator Works of California questioned how a salute by Huerta would wipe out the insult.

"We are advocates of peace," he said. "Here is our opportunity to give evidence to the world of our sincerity."

"I'm afraid we haven't the moral courage to say to this stricken nation—Mexico—that what she has done to repair this wrong is enough," the California senator declared.

"Why shall we send all our ships to discipline, not the nation, but Huerta, a private citizen in our eyes?" The president tells us that Huerta is not the Mexican republic—he refused to salute the flag and he asked us to give him authority to compel Huerta—not the republic—to salute. That is the whole question. All we are asked to do is to uphold the hand of the president while he tries to compel Huerta, a private citizen to salute."

PHILIPP MOVE IS STALWART REVIVAL DECLARES HAUSER

Former Secretary of State Says Plan for Conservative Ticket Means "Interest" Control

LAUDS, LIEUT. GOVERNOR MORRIS

Man Who Managed La Follette's Campaign Pays Him High Tribute in Interview Here Today

SHOULD HAVE UNITED SUPPORT

Claims His Candidacy Appeals to Progressive Voters Almost Irrespective of Party Lines

That the movement started by Emanuel Philipp, Milwaukee, to place a conservative republican ticket in the field this fall, is but an outcropping of old stalwart activity and that it will be rejected by the people, was the assertion here today of Walter L. Hauser, former secretary of state and the man who managed Senator La Follette's senatorial campaign. Mr. Hauser is in La Crosse conferring with progressive leaders.

Mr. Philipp was recently here conferring with the conservatives and it was following his visit that plans were made for the calling of a county convention.

Merely a Revival

Discussing the Philipp movement, Mr. Hauser said:

"Any organization or which seems to be fathered by it, cannot help but meet with the disapproval of progressive voters. We settled that issue long ago. Whatever is the attitude of the voter on high taxes or other incidental issues, nothing could induce a return to the days of domination by the old political machine which controlled the state for the interests purely for selfish ends."

"All incidents connected with the activity of Mr. Philipp points to a revival of the old organization. His conferences are with men who actively fought the progressive movement in its early days and they have revived this activity. It is purely a move to regain control of the state by that organization."

Tribute to Morris

Mr. Hauser took occasion to pay a high tribute to Lieut. Gov. "Tom" Morris.

"Never in the history of the progressive movement has that movement been better represented in a candidacy than at present in the candidacy of Lieut. Governor Morris for the senatorship."

"His record as a public officer, his private life, his unquestioned integrity, his loyalty, courage and devotion to principles that he believes essential to representative government in insuring to all men equal opportunity in the pursuit of happiness, qualify him beyond my power to describe for this high office."

"Personally—and I believe this to be the conviction of the great rank and file of progressive voters almost irrespective of party—no candidacy has ever appealed to me with more force or has invited from me more enthusiastic support. There ought to be no question of his nomination and election."

SUFFRAGETTE CAMPAIGN OPEN

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 22.—Suffragettes of Pennsylvania today began a four weeks campaign to force candidates for nomination to the state house of representatives to come out into the open on the question of providing for a vote for the electors of the state on the matter of woman suffrage. Candidates of every political party will be informed that a refusal will be considered as opposition to woman suffrage, and that the women will fight all candidates who do not declare themselves.

NO ARRESTS AT LAKE MILLS

LAKE MILLS, Wis., April 22.—No arrest has been made or confession obtained as to the nine incendiary fires that occurred here last week. Some tramps were taken into custody, but no evidence connected them with the fires.

The Ideal, a boat from Fountain City, delivered a load of lumber this morning at the Segelke and Kohlhaas company. The boat returned shortly after noon.

MAY CALL U. OF W. CADETS

MADISON, Wis., April 22.—"I shall call for volunteers from the university cadets if I receive orders to that effect from the president or secretary of war," said First Lieutenant P. G. Wrightson, Twentieth United States Infantry, commandant at the University of Wisconsin. "I expect to be able to raise at least one battalion of volunteers from the cadet corps alone."

Lieutenant Wrightson has already been offered the rank of major with war troops.

FIGHTING IN THE COLORADO MINING DISTRICT FIERCE

Eleven Strikers Are Reported Slain But Later Reports Deny Rumor

ONE IS KNOWN TO BE DEAD

A Militiaman Has Been Killed and One Striker Also Died

MACHINE GUNS ARE WEAPONS

Soldiers Tear Up the Hills Where Men Are Entrenched and Tent Colony Is Burned

DENVER, Colo., April 22.—With strikers and militiamen at Ludlow, in the southern Colorado coal fields, ready for a renewal of the bloody fighting which raged there for fourteen hours yesterday, latest dispatches from Trinidad, near Ludlow, indicated that the fatalities were fewer than had been reported. One militiaman is known to have been killed and Denver strike leaders at daylight said their reports indicated eleven besieged strikers had been slain.

One Known Dead
At 7:30 a. m., however, Ed. Doyle, district secretary of the United Miners, declared his latest advices from Trinidad were that only one striker was known to be dead. He said the fatalities might be considerably greater than that but that Trinidad reported only George Costa, a miner, dead. He denied Louis Tikas, strike leader, had been slain.

For three hours last night, say miners' officials, the militia swept the hills, where the union men were entrenched, with machine guns. Throughout Monday a blasting fire swept Ludlow. Bullets rained on the railroad station until shortly after six o'clock last night, flames swept through the tent colony, and women and children ran screaming to the depot, where they crouched in terror on the floor. Union men have a report that two women and a child were killed in the dash to the depot, but there is no confirmation.

From Trinidad, Walsenburg, Lamar and other nearby points all the available troops early today were being rushed to Ludlow.

Recall Militia

Renewed fighting, even surpassing that of yesterday, was expected. The last of the militia had been withdrawn from the strike field last week but all available companies have been ordered back by Brig. Gen. Chase.

The cause of the battle is not clearly defined. Sunday afternoon the strikers played a ball game. Militiamen on duty at Ludlow were watching the game, when, they alleged, a few of the strikers attacked them. A free for all fight began.

Sunday night firing began in the hills and early Monday Lieut. Linderfelt and sixteen soldiers were sent to investigate. Major Hamrock asserts the strikers ambushed Linderfelt's men. This precipitated the battle.

Throughout Monday the fighting raged over an area of three square miles.

SPECIAL SESSION PETITION DENIED BY THE GOVERNOR

Executive Today Rejects Proposal of State Officers to Reduce Expense by Legislative Action

MADISON, Wis., April 22.—Gov. McGovern will not call a special session of the legislature to act on appropriation measures.

In declining to do so, he claims that by executive action he can save $2,455,000 to the tax-payers of the state. He also claims that by adding to this $1,870,000 which he says is not necessary to levy next year, the total saving is $4,325,000. The governor claims this is almost half a million more than those petitioning for a special session figured on saving.

Governor McGovern alleges that there is little popular demand for calling the legislature together. Less than 40 per cent of the towns endorsed the petition for an extra session, he says.

The governor, in discussing the petition presented to him, takes occasion to flay those presenting the petition. He refers to the plan as "hatched in the dark," claims that pledges of secrecy were demanded from clerks and state employees, and that the contents of the petition itself were made public before presented to him. "Petty factional politics," and a desire to have "a political conference in continual session at Madison at the expense of the state" are other charges of the governor in impugnig the motives of the state officials who asked for the session.

LOCAL MEN WILL ENLIST IN EVENT WAR IS DECLARED

Twenty-five Request Recruiting Officer to Notify Them in Event of Orders from Washington

FEW APPLICATIONS FOR NAVY

La Crosse People Prefer Work in Army Because Possibilities of Fighting Are Greater

REGIMENTAL BAND IN REDINESS

Organization at Viroqua Is Overcrowded but Can Be Reduced to Twenty-eight Pieces

Between twenty and twenty-five La Crosse men are awaiting word of actual warfare to enlist in the regular army. This is the announcement made at the La Crosse recruiting station today by the recruiting officer.

Today and yesterday a large number of men have called at the station demanding news of any military activities and declaring their intention of enlisting without delay as soon as any action is taken or the army ordered to the front.

Two men, who discovered they were unable to make the necessary height, declared their intention of being their own officers and started for the Texas border.

But few applications have been made at the navy recruiting station in the federal building. This is accounted for by the fact that the greater part of the war, should it materialize, would take place on land and all are anxious to see real action.

Regimental Band Ready

VIROQUA, Wis., April 22.—The Third regimental band of the Wisconsin National guard is prepared to leave for the front at a moment's notice. The band is in excess of its full war strength but will be cut to twenty-eight men if called.

Sparta Will Have Men

SPARTA, Wis., April 22.—While the natural strength of Company L of the Third Wisconsin National guard is but 53 men, there will be no trouble in recruiting it to full war strength should the call for the home militia be issued, is the announcement made today by Captain R. Merrill.

Six Join at Mauston

MAUSTON, Wis., April 22.—Six men have already made application to join the local company of the Wisconsin National guard within the last twenty-four hours.

Many Applications

TOMAH, Wis., April 22.—Applications for membership in Company K, Third Wisconsin National guard, have been coming in rapidly since the possibility of trouble in Mexico has arisen. The company is ready to mobilize at any point within the state at short notice.

SUPERIOR, Wis., April 22.

Company I is awaiting orders to mobilize and at the direction of their officers have prepared for almost instant action.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., April 22.

Members of Company E of the Wisconsin National guard are under instructions to be prepared for speedy departure should orders for mobilization be received here.

TO STOP KILLING

OSHKOSH, Wis., April 22.—Reports that there have been attempts to capture or kill members of the big flock of swans which yearly visits Lake Winnebago have caused game wardens to issue warnings that a heavy fine or imprisonment is the penalty for offenses. Mounted swans are greatly in demand and it is claimed that some of the Winnebago flocks have been killed and stuffed.

Reported Rebels Have Laid Course

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, April 22.—General Francisco Villa, commander in chief of the Mexican constitutionalist army today resumed his secret conferences with General Carranza here. After a series of meetings yesterday the chiefs declined to state what they had decided to do. It is believed that they have reached a determination regarding the attitude of constitutionalists towards the proposed American punishment of General Huerta.

The meeting between the chiefs was very cordial and all reports of a breach were set at rest when the men were seen there. Villa today called in physicians to dress his hand, wounded at Sacramento.

The order for the march on Monterey by constitutionalists was given today.

BRYAN CONFERS WITH DIPLOMATS

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Seven leading diplomats in the corps here were this afternoon requested to call and confer with Secretary of State Bryan at 2:30. It was assumed that the secretary would outline to them the American policy with regard to action against Mexico.

The diplomats asked to call included the representatives of Germany, France, Great Britain, Spain, Japan, Austria and Italy.

On leaving the conference the German ambassador, Count Von Bernsdorff, flatly refused to make any statement. He said he did not know whether the vessel to be at or near Vera Cruz, bearing ammunition to Huerta, flew the German flag.

Wolfe Will Make Motion to Have Morse Placed Under Bonds for Cost of Action

B. F. Keeler, state deputy of the Modern Woodmen and leader of the administration faction throughout the state, today filed an answer to the $50,000 libel suit brought against him by Alfred Leslie Morse, insurgent leader, who alleges defamation of character at the hands of Keeler.

Morse, in his complaint, sets forth that Keeler sent certain literature throughout the country containing false information concerning alleged family troubles of Morse and charged him with working in behalf of the insurgent faction merely as a means of procuring a livelihood. Morse asks $50,000 for the damages to his reputation through the circulation of the circulars.

Wolfe Files Answer

In Keeler's answer, filed today with Attorney P. W. Mahoney, acting for Morse, by Attorneys W. F. and A. C. Wolfe, Keeler defends his action on the following grounds:

1. He did not compose the literature in question.

2. The statements set forth in the circular, he claims, are true.

3. He bore no personal malice against Morse but was merely fulfilling his duty as state deputy by showing up the men who were attacking the order.

4. He claims Morse had no reputation to lose.

5. Keeler states that before the action was brought Morse received $10 a lecture and he now receives $25. He has thus sustained no financial loss.

In the answer Keeler also alleges that Morse had no knowledge of life insurance principles and was working a harm through his lack of knowledge.

Chief among the statements which Keeler claims are true are those relating to relations between himself and his wife and those dealing with a divorce suit. Another statement he makes is that Morse was disinherited by his father.

Prepare for Suit

Attorney A. C. Wolfe today declared that he will make a motion before the circuit court Saturday asking that the plaintiff be made to furnish bonds to cover the cost of the action.

Continuing he said it is probable that the case will be brought up at the May term of the circuit court and he is planning on procuring a deposition from Morse's former wife, without delay. Mrs. Morse is now residing in Kansas City. The attorney says Mr. Keeler now has a written statement signed by Mrs. Morse, bearing out in many respects, the allegations made against Morse in the circular.

SUFFRAGE BALL TONIGHT

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Society today was getting all dolled up for the suffrage ball tonight. This event, engineered by the leading suffragettes bids fair to be one of the leading events of the capital's social season. THE NEXT AND THE LAST OF THE GREAT WESTERN CANADIAN RAILWAY SEAPORTS

PORT HARDY is at the Northern end of Vancouver Island, British Columbia. It is the only protected deep water port on the northern half of the Island.

PORT HARDY is one of the three possible deep water ports on the outward seaboard of Western Canada—the others are Victoria and Prince Rupert.

PORT HARDY is one day closer to the Orient than any other deep sea port on the Pacific coast—one day closer than Victoria and Seattle—four days closer than San Francisco.

PORT HARDY is the registered terminal of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Notice and location of terminal filed with Dominion Government Railway Department at Ottawa.

PORT HARDY, as a terminal, gives the Canadian Pacific Railway an advantage of one day over all other systems, except the Grand Trunk Pacific, in the Oriental haul.

PORT HARDY, as a terminal, places the Canadian Pacific Railway on a parity with the Grand Trunk Pacific at Prince Rupert, Rupert being the same distance from Oriental Ports.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY is now built to within ninety miles of Port Hardy and is extending the line as fast as steel can be delivered.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY announces its rails in Port Hardy within two years, possibly in a shorter time, for there are no difficulties of construction in the way.

PORT HARDY TOWNSITE consists of 2,700 lots, every lot 50 by 110 feet to a fourteen-foot lane with no lot at a greater distance than half a mile from the government docks.

PRICES OF PORT HARDY LOTS are based upon the present actual value of fore shore acreage on Hardy Bay plus the estimated cost of advertising and selling.

PORT HARDY is offered the buying public, not as an investment, but as a safe speculation---It is offered wholly and solely upon its bona fides--We have no statements to make in this connection, and will make none, which cannot be confirmed instantly by Canadian government records and maps, or by reference to leading banks of British Columbia--Our line of reference will be opened to you for the asking.

Port Hardy Townsite is owned by the Port Hardy Terminal Company of Victoria, B. C.

Title is from the government by Crown Grant to Lawrence Goodacre and by Lawrence Goodacre to the Canadian Financiers, Limited, a general trust company of Vancouver and Victoria, which is trustee for the Port Hardy Terminal Company.

The Canadian Financiers, Limited, deliver Torrens Deed upon the maturity of all contracts of sale and all contracts are made with the trustee.

GOVERNMENT COST IS NOT EXCESSIVE

State Official Says Figures Purporting to Show Expenses Were Multiplied Ten Times

WISCONSIN'S LESS THAN OTHERS

Commissions in Wisconsin
Do Work Given to Others in Minnesota and Other States

MADISON, Wis., April 22.—Officials at the state capitol made quick response to the statement published here that it costs more to run different departments of the state government here than it does in Minnesota, by showing that the correct statements of Wisconsin expenses had been "grossly exaggerated" and that the commissions in Minnesota did not cover the same character of work as in Wisconsin.

"They have magnified our expenses ten fold," was the assertion of J. C. MacKenzie, secretary of the State Agricultural society, when shown the statement giving the expenses of maintenance of the State Agricultural society as $150,000 annually compared with $42,000 for the state of Minnesota.

Figures Multiplied

"How any man of intelligence could make this mistake is beyond human reason. The facts are: There is an annual appropriation of $15,000 state aid to the State Agricultural society of Wisconsin—not $150,000. The total cost of maintenance has never exceeded the sum of $7,000. The balance of this amount has been used for the maintenance of the state fair grounds at Milwaukee. Of this $7,000, $4,850 is expended in salaries of secretary and clerical help; the remaining $2,150 is spent for the expenses of members of the state fair board attending monthly meetings and their per diem while acting as superintendents of different departments of the state fair.

Work is Varied

"The Wisconsin library commission has two fields of activities which no other of the thirty-seven library commissions maintains," said M. S. Dodgeon, when shown the statement showing that the Wisconsin library commission was more expensive than in Minnesota. "None of these others conducts a library school nor does any other commission maintain a legislative reference library. The appropriation for the legislative reference library is separate from the appropriations for the general work of the library commission and amounts to $21,000, leaving a balance of $34,080 available for the general work of the commission including library extension and visitation, traveling libraries, study clubs and library school work.

"So far as we are able to learn the Wisconsin library commission maintains supervision over fully twice as many libraries as does the Minnesota commission and in addition gives very much more detailed information. The Wisconsin commission sends from one to four boxes of books to each of the seven hundred rural communities, which otherwise would be practically without good reading matter. The Minnesota commission reaches about one-half as many communities. The Wisconsin commission supplies seventy-five hundred camps with reading material. Minnesota has not taken up this work. Twenty-one thousand eight hundred and eighty dollars of the library commission appropriation is available for and used only in legislative reference work. The Minnesota commission does none of this work."

James Has Figures

Albert E. James, statistician for the state commission, in a lengthy statistical statement makes a comparison of the work done by the tax commissions of Wisconsin and Minnesota, which shows the large amount of work done by the Wisconsin commission that is attended to by other official departments in Minnesota. Minnesota has no income tax, the inheritance tax is administered by the attorney general in Minnesota and in Wisconsin by the tax commission, the Minnesota commission does not install systems of municipal accounts nor does it value its forest lands.

"Wisconsin is doing some things through the tax commission that Minnesota does through other bodies, a fact that reduces the cost of the Minnesota commission," declares Mr. James.

"The Church and The Bible." A portion of his remarks follow:

Attitude Toward Bible

"The real attitude of the Catholic church toward the Bible has never been rightly understood by the Protestant people. Years and years ago it was the common belief of a large section of the non-Catholic world that the Roman church was the enemy of Holy Writ; that she prevented her children from reading the scriptures and that for generations and generations the bible was practically a closed book for Catholics. Enlightened people at the present time know these were not true—the church never has been the enemy of the bible. A perusal of the writings of our great men in all times from Cyprian and Gregory The Great to Thomas Aquinas and Bernardin of Sienna demonstrates that these men were well acquainted with the scriptures. More than that, it is a well known fact that before the reformation there were eighty-four editions of the bible in modern languages, ninety-eight editions in ancient languages and at least six hundred and twenty-six editions of the bible spread in Catholic countries alone.

"The church, however, maintains that all christianity is not to be learned from the bible alone. The bible is not the sole rule of faith, it is a holy book and inspired, but was never intended to be a charter of christianity. This is proven from the fact that in the very earliest years of christianity there was no such thing as a bible as we now have it. Conservative critics say that the first book of the new testament was not written until the year 53 at least. Now, the Christians in that time were called upon to believe truths, the justification of which could not be found in the Old Testament. What conclusion is to be drawn? Either they had not christianity or there is some other rule of faith than the Bible. The canon of the New Testament and of the Old Testament for that matter was a matter of dispute until the year 350. The church had not definitely decreed what books belonged to the Bible and what did not. The people had practically no knowledge of the scriptures save what they heard read in the synagogues and at their love feasts. They did not learn their christianity from Holy Writ. Who will deny that they were not Christians? And again the conclusion is forced upon us, either the Bible is not the sole rule of faith or these people were not Christians.

"In conclusion Protestants are not to misunderstand the Catholic position toward the Bible; we respect the book as the word of God; we revere it, but Protestants had placed the Bible in a position which it was never intended to occupy by Christ. It was never to be a complete summary of Christian teaching. The church was in existence before a line in the New Testament was written and could exist were there no such a book as the Bible. Under her supervision every word was put down. Paul was a Christian before he wrote, Matthew was a Christian before he penned his gospel, and so were Luke and Mark and John and the others; they did not learn their christianity through any book; they heard the word preached and they believed and they were saved.

Point of Controversy

"If a man takes the Bible and the Bible alone as his rule of faith how is he going to know whether or not it is inspired—this is the crucial point of the controversy. Until it is decided Protestants cannot claim that the scriptures are the word of God—what is their authority for quoting them? The question must be decided by some other court than the Bible, for there is not one word in both testaments to show that the scriptures are inspired. How does the Protestant world know that the Bible as they have it is the Bible that was intended by Christ if they take the Bible and the Bible alone as their rule of faith? How do they know that Peter ever wrote an epistle or that the gospel known as St. Matthew's was written by him? These questions must be answered and a solution found before Protestants can logically take the scriptures and them alone as a basis for their religion."

M'CUE AND MANDOT
FIGHT TO A DRAW
RACINE, Wis., April 22.—Matty

McCue's friends today claimed a virtual victory for the local lightweight by reason of his draw last night with

Joe Mandot, experienced New Orleans

scrapper, in a ten round battle.

McCue surprised a crowd of 3,000

by holding his own with the southern lad, though Mandot's followers were claiming a shade today.

The Pittsburg Pirates touched up a trio of Red twirlers for eleven safeties in the last game of the series yesterday and romped off with a 5 to 2 victory. Eddie Konetchy, the new Pirate first sacker, swung the war club for a sacrifice, a single and a triple, scored one run and continued his record of errorless ball.

CUBS OPEN SEASON AT CHICAGO TODAY

CHICAGO, April 22.—Superb weather was offered by the weather man for the Cubs' 1914 debut on their home lot under the guidance of Hank O'Day.

Lieut.-Gov. Barratt O'Hara was to throw out the first ball after the blushing athletes had been handed floral pieces. Garry Herrmann and a score of Cincinnati rooters, arrived early to watch the Reds perform in the season opener here.

GETS K. O. BUT HE GOES THE ROUTE

Johnny Moran Dropped in First for Count of Nine and Practically Out Comes Back

Hammond Skeeter's Cleverness Saves Him from Trouble at Hands of Billy De Foe

Practically knocked out by a blow to the body in the opening round, Johnny Moran of Chicago came back last night, and for the nine remaining rounds fought off Barney O'Neill of Oakland, Cal., who proved to be one of the most vicious and savage mixers who has appeared before the local club. So well did he come back, that in two of the ensuing rounds, he shaded O'Neill, and once, in fact, seemed to have him nearly out.

Moran seemed to lack experience as a boxer, but he had two blows of great effectiveness, which he used repeatedly. One was a straight left, with which he stood off O'Neill's rushes with great success, and the other a smashing right uppercut, which tottered O'Neill time after time.

Dropped in First

The first round looked as if the bout would end quickly. O'Neill started like a cyclone, raining a shower of blows upon Moran, and rushing him about the ring. Finally, in Moran's corner, O'Neill shot two rights to the body, and Moran collapsed. He took the count of nine, and when he rose, claimed a foul. Referee George Duffy called Dr. Friend A. Sulter, who made an examination in the ring, and decided that Moran had not been fouled and was able to continue.

In the second round Moran started distressed, but as it wore off, he regained himself, and fought back O'Neill's wildest rushes in good style. Finally he slipped over a right uppercut that sent O'Neill to his knees. It was Moran's round by a narrow margin.

In the third round Moran started out well, making a good lead, which he lost when he attempted to clinch and stopped a hard right to the ribs, going down for the count of two. He was worried for the rest of the round, but he staved off O'Neill's rushes and received no further damage.

Fourth Moran's

The fourth round was a fast and furious affair, with each man punching freely. Barney bored in constantly, and was stopped generally by Moran's straight left. Moran also landed repeatedly with his right uppercut, doing considerable execution.

In the fifth Moran had a slight shade. He had the best of O'Neill in the clinches, and rocked him once with a right to the jaw. He went down himself, but it was a stumble. He was not hit. The round closed just as he shoved over a hard right to the jaw.

Moran Nearly Winner

In the sixth round Moran started out in great form, getting in a half dozen telling punches before O'Neill landed once. After a clinch, he swung a terrific right uppercut to Barney's jaw, and the latter hung on, his eyes glassy. Had Moran followed up his advantage, he would apparently have laid away the Oakland boy, but he was tiring fast, and stood away until Barney came back. After a little clinching, O'Neill rallied fiercely and had a little better of the mixing.

From the sixth on Moran was done. He was tired shortly after the start of each round, although he came back with flashes of speed in which his right snapped. O'Neill's head back occasionally. The tenth round started out fast, each man apparently trying for the K. O., but Moran lacked the stamina to keep it up, and O'Neill could not land hard enough.

De Foe Too Strong

Skeeter Joe Bishop, Hammond feather, met more than his match in his eight round mill with Billy De foe, Red Wing. Not that Bishop was outclassed. He was right with De Foe all the way through, and he was undamaged at the finish. But he was unable to hurt De Foe with his punches, and only his marvelous foot work saved him from stopping a sleep producer time and again. De Foe showed a speedy heavy punch, which several times slammed Joe into the ropes. Joe danced around him, sending in nearly blow for blow, but could not even check De Foe's rushes.

Young Sampson demonstrated his courage and toughness again in his six round second prelim with Tommy Tague of Hammond. Tague showed like an experienced ringster, and he packed the most vicious punch of any fighter of the evening. Sampson, however, has learned much since his last bout, and he covered in such excellent style that Tommy couldn't land the haymakers anywhere but on the top of the fireman's head. Sampson was outpointed and outpunched but he was neither outfought nor outgamed. He was mugged and damaged considerably, but was fighting back at the end of the sixth round almost as strongly as at the beginning. He was only in danger once, when Tague slid a left swing around his guard. Sampson tottered, but his iron jaw saved him. He clinched and

"I can't think of any reason why I shouldn't say I like Tuxedo because I do like it, very much."

Why Should I Smoke TUXEDO?

TUXEDO is the logical smoke for millionaires because it is impossible to buy a better tobacco.

Tuxedo is the logical smoke for the economical man because there are 40 pipefuls in a ten-cent tin—making the average cost per pipeful only one-fourth of a cent!

To buy cheaper tobacco means to get less pleasure out of smoking, because it is impossible to make a tobacco as good as Tuxedo at less than the Tuxedo price!

Tuxedo

The Perfect Pipe Tobacco

Tuxedo is made of only the finest, choicest selected leaves of perfectly aged Burley tobacco. It is made by the original Tuxedo process which takes all the unpleasantness out of tobacco and leaves all the pleasantness in!

Tuxedo has a deliciously mild, fragrant aroma that is pleasant to all. It is the only tobacco you can smoke in a room full of lace curtains without leaving even a trace of an odor.

A trial will convince you that Tuxedo is superior to every other tobacco you have ever smoked. Buy a tin—today.

CALL CITIZENS TO ARMY ONLY BY LOT

"Unorganized Militia" Can Be Drafted Only After System of Choice by Chance

HAVE MORE THAN SIXTEEN MILLION Available Fighting Strength of Wisconsin 2,787 Militia and 494,940 Citizens Liable for Service

While every male citizen of the United States, under the terms of the militia bill, is liable for service in the army, militia officers here today explained that status of the citizen not a member of a national guard regiment remains about the same as it was before the passage of the bill. Citizens not members of militia companies cannot be made to take arms except after selection by a system of draft by lot, it was explained.

To Help Department

The provision of the bill was made, it was explained, in order to give the war department officials date on the available forces. The number of citizens available for duty in each state is estimated from the number of males between the ages of 45 and 18 and from these figures the war department officials estimate just what regiments can be raised for war service if required.

With this data it is possible to arrange complete details for mobilization and rapid handling of troops in emergencies of war. In this connection it is interesting to observe the number of fighting men available from the various states. It is estimated that the total available "unorganized militia," or citizen soldiers who are in line for duty if the country's need demands, is 16,004,683. To this may be added the organized militia from the states and territories with a strength of 113,279 men. The regular army of some 90,000 men is not included in managed to cover up until he came back.

Foy Stops Joelner

The opener went but five rounds. Ed Foy stopped his opponent, Fritz Joelner, in the fifth, after hitting him at will all through the match. Foy far outclassed his opponent as a boxer, and would have finished him in the fifth but for the interference of Duffy when Joelner was leaning helpless against the ropes.

this statement of the possible fighting strength of the United States.

Wisconsin's Strength

In Wisconsin the National guard numbers 2,787 enlisted men and 195 commissioned officers. The "unorganized militia" numbers 494,940, according to war department figures.

The Minnesota national guard has an enlistment of 2,608 men and 216 officers. The reserve of "unorganized militia," is estimated at 225,000 men.

Iowa has an enlistment in its national guard regiments of 2,661 men and 219 officers, with its available fighting strength swelled by 303,789 reserves, "male citizens between 18 and 45 years of age."

B. B. COMMISSION CONTINUES FED WAR

CHICAGO, April 22.—War on the Federal league was the big subject under discussion when the national commission met here today, with President Ban B. Johnson of the American league and Garry Herrman, chairman of the commission attending. Governor Tener, president of the National league sent word that he was unable to come to Chicago.

SUES CARUSO FOR BAIL

NEW YORK, April 22.—Enrico Caruso couldn't break a profitable opera season for a trifle like a honeymoon, according to the allegations of Mrs. Mildred Meffert and after the season ended he apparently forgot all about it. She is suing the star for $100,000 for breach of promise. Caruso will fight.

DOG WATSON MAKES HIT IN MAJORS

Former La Crosse Twirler Pitches Wonderful Ball with the Chicago Federals

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 22.—Manager Tinker left here last night with an even break in the four game series and remarked that if the Chicago Federal league team could break even on the road he would have the pennant clinched. The loss of the final game to the Packers yesterday by the score of 7 to 6 in a fifteen inning struggle was, of course, rather discouraging, because it was the second extra inning session which has gone against President Weeghman's collection of fast ball players.

One thing which pleased the leader of the flock was the development of another star pitcher in Doc Watson, former Cub, and a left hander. Two of the recruits on trial were knocked out of the box. Max Fiske, the heavyweight spitter, who took off twenty pounds of surplus fat in the training camp at Cleveland, tried to start the game. He was woefully lacking in strength and nerve and after going four and one-third innings he was yanked out and replaced by Erwin Lange.

Doc Watson Works Well

The latter fared little better, although he had little time to warm up, and Doc Watson took his place at the beginning of the seventh. His twirling was a revelation, compared with what had been offered the Packers in the previous innings. Only three safeties were made off Watson in the eight and two-thirds innings and the man who got the hit in the fifteenth rally with two out, was Second Baseman Kenworthy. It was the first single he had made in the game in seven chances, but it was timely and did the business.

HIS ASSETS ARE EXEMPT

Liabilities amounting to 427 and assets totaling two old suits of clothing, one old $20 watch and $56 in cash, all exempt, is the statement submitted by Fred Blanchard, a north side railroad man who today filed a petition for discharge from bankruptcy with Alfred Harrison, clerk of the United States court. Mr. Blanchard's liabilities consist almost entirely of clothing, furniture, meat, grocery and medical bills.

PETITIONERS SILENT

MADISON, Wis., April 22.—When the officers who signed the special session petition were asked today to comment on the governor's reply denying their appeal, they refused to talk, not having received his statement at 11:15. These officers were Attorney General Owen, Secretary of State Donald and State Treasurer Johnson.

Federal Commander at Vera Cruz Told Not to Allow Trouble at Port

VERA CRUZ, April 22.—Two special trains loaded with Americans and other foreigners arrived here today from Mexico City. The trains were made up of Pullmans and carried upwards of 200 refugees.

The above message was received in New York from the United Press staff correspondent at Vera Cruz at 1:45 p. m. It was censored.

(By a staff correspondent of the United Press.)

VERA CRUZ, April 22.—The Mexican federals have felt the force of the embargo which is to be placed against the government even before it is formally ordered by the United States.

Acting under orders from Admiral Craddock, commanding the British vessels here, the oil carrying steamer El Zorra refused to transport ammunition to the federal forces at Tampico. Upon receipt of the instructions from Craddock, the cargo of ammunition was discharged.

The captain explained that England's friendly relations with America would not permit his vessel to run by the fleet with war material.

Americans Board Ship

Eighty-seven American refugees, including men and women, are today aboard the ships Mexico and Esperanza, chartered by the United States government. About fifty are aboard the Mexico, and as the vessel was unable to leave last night, owing to high winds and a rough sea, it is now believed she will remain here until she has as many refugees as her accommodations will permit.

Gen. Maas, military governor of Vera Cruz, today received instructions from Mexico City to preserve peace here at any cost. Gen. Maas declared he did not believe there would be any trouble in Vera Cruz even under the most acute circumstances.

Exodus is On

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Secretary of State Bryan admitted at 11 o'clock today that a general American exodus from Mexico City is on. He said that he had received a wireless from Rear Admiral Fletcher at Vera Cruz, reporting that the Americans are coming from the capital on special trains as fast as they can be arranged for. Fletcher has been ordered to care for all Americans, but Secretary Bryan refused to review in detail just what these instructions are.

ALFRED ANDERSON DEAD IN NEW YORK

Multi-millionaire, a Former Resident of La Crosse, Called Soon After Return from Europe

SON OF THE LATE MONS ANDERSON

Has Resided in Seattle for Last Twenty-five Years; Brother of S. W. Anderson

Alfred H. Anderson, Seattle, Wash., multi-millionaire, son of the late Mons Anderson, La Crosse, and brother of S. W. Anderson and Mrs. Emma A. Crosby of this city, died at the Waldorf hotel, New York city, Monday, according to word received by his brother here today. He had but recently returned from Europe.

Mr. Anderson was born and raised in La Crosse and for some years was associated with his father and brother in the firm of Mons Anderson & Sons. He left La Crosse twenty-five years ago for the west, there engaging in lumbering and other industries with great success.

Mr. Anderson was born here April 13, 1856. In January, 1883, he married Miss Agnes Healy, daughter of the late B. B. Healy, originally a resident of Trempealeau, Wis., but who later moved to La Crosse. He left here for Seattle in March, 1889.

Deceased is survived by a widow, two sisters, Mrs. C. W. Bunn, St. Paul, Minn., and Mrs. Emma A. Crosby, La Crosse, and one brother, S. W. Anderson, also of La Crosse.

The funeral will be held in Seattle, the exact time to be determined later.

MRS. DOUGLAS DIES

Mrs. Mary Douglas died at midnight at her home, 1503 Caledonia street, at the age of 71 years. Old age was the cause of death.

The funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home and at 2:30 at the Caledonia Street M. E. church, of which she was a member. Rev. M. E. Fraser will officiate.

NEWS OF BATTLE OF VERA CRUZ ENTHUSES MAJESTIC AUDIENCE

When it was announced from the stage of the Majestic theater last night that American marines had occupied the city of Vera Cruz after an encounter with the Mexican federals in which 100 of the latter were killed, the audience started prolonged cheering. The La Crosse Tribune's "extras" telling in detail the facts of the Vera Cruz fight, were distributed throughout the audience. When enthusiasm was at its height the orchestra struck up the "Star Spangled Banner," standing as they played—and the audience, catching the spirit, with one accord, arose and sang the song to its finish.

Tells Positive Cure For all Foot Troubles

Science has proven that nearly all foot troubles originate from a common cause: that of injured tissues. The following information will be welcomed by thousands of victims of daily foot torture. No matter how many patent medicines you have tried in vain, this treatment, well known to foot doctors, will do the work. "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calceide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet for a full fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts." The effects are marvelous. All pain disappears instantly and the feet feel simply delightful. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off. Bunions, aching feet and twenty smelly feet get immediate relief. Use this treatment a week and your foot troubles will be a thing of the past. Calceide works through the pores and removes the cause. Don't waste time. Get it at once. Any druggist has Calceide in stock or will get it from his wholesale house. A Twenty-five cent box is said to be enough to cure the worst feet. Don't be prejudiced to take something else instead. Calceide is prepared only at laboratories of Medical Formula Co., of Dayton, Ohio, and Chicago, Ill.

START PLANS FOR COMMENCEMENT

TOMAH, Wis., April 22.—Plans have been started for the commencement of the local high school. Pres. Silas Evans of the Ripon college, will deliver the commencement address and Rev. I. G. Smith of this city, has been selected to deliver the invocation on that evening. The class play is "She Stoops to Conquer" by Oliver Goldsmith. Those who have been selected for the speaking parts of this play are Donald Compton, Raymond Reinhard, George Nichols, William Nuzum, Robert Murray,

Charles Wright, George Johnson, Luella Reynolds, Mabel Baker and Hattie Borchert.

The program for class day has not as yet been given out. A class of forty-six will graduate from the high school this year, which is the largest in the history of the school.

There are several buildings and residences being erected this year and it promises to increase the growth of the city. Work is progressing on the building of the Franz Bros. and the foundation has been laid for a residence of Mr. Ralph Taft which will be completed before the summer months.

The steam roller and stone crusher, which were used here last summer when new roads were being built, were shipped away on Tuesday.

Nearly all the concrete mixers belonging to the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway company have been shipped to points west after being over hauled and painted in the Tomah shops.

FEAR THAT O'SHAUGHNESSY IS DEAD AND MEXICO CITY IS RIOT BOUND HUERTA CHARGE TO ASK PASSPORT

FORTY HOURS SILENCE OF AMERICAN DIPLOMAT WORRIES WASHINGTON

THE SITUATION IN A NUTSHELL

The occupation of Vera Cruz by American forces is complete. "Huerta, dead or alive," is order anticipated at White house. No word has been received from Mexico City in forty hours, and with rumors of O'Shaughnessy having been given his passports, or even murdered, grave fears of riot and murder are entertained. Mexican Charge Algora has been authorized to ask for his passports, at his own discretion. Senate passed Wilson resolution, which latter has signed. Wilson asked for $50,000,000 war fund. Senate expects to declare war. Similar action by Huerta is anticipated. Rumored Huerta has asked Bryan to withdraw O'Shaughnessy. Shipments of arms for rebels in northern Mexico are held up. Anti-American riots are reported from Puerto, Mexico. Federals along the border are entrenching in expectation of United States invasion.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Every hour's additional delay in hearing from Charge O'Shaughnessy at Mexico City adds to the apprehension of the administration that something serious has developed in Huerta's capital.

Surrounded by rumors of the assassination of Mr. O'Shaughnessy in Mexico City, and reports that he has been handed his passports by Dictator Huerta, officials

Bryan Acknowledges Error

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Secretary Bryan was quoted today as saying that marines had been landed at Tampico, but later said he meant to refer to Vera Cruz. He has consistently, in talking today to newspapermen, used the word "Tampico" instead of "Vera Cruz," he said. "This mistake has led to misunderstandings."

of the state department were plainly worried today over the diplomat's long silence. No word has been received from him since day before yesterday, when he transmitted the last of Huerta's reply to Wilson's ultimatum, refusing to accede to the demands of the United States.

Secretary Bryan admitted that he had no word from the charge, but he said that if Huerta had handed his passports to the diplomat, it was certain that the dictator would have allowed O'Shaughnessy to wire his government to that effect.

For forty hours not a single direct word has come from the American charge. The government here is utterly without information of what is transpiring behind the scenes in Mexico City, or of the fate of Americans there. Frantic but futile efforts have been made to get into communication.

It is not known whether the cable lines have been cut to prevent word of anti-American demonstrations being sent out, or whether the Mexican government, as a final crowning insult to the United States, has merely refused to permit O'Shaughnessy to transmit any word to his chiefs here.

The apprehension of the state department force has extended throughout the entire administration circles. Army officers are bitterly lamenting the delay—completely unexplained—which keeps them impotent, ready for action, but leashed.

The state department late this afternoon was in touch with other embassies here, endeavoring to learn whether they had any word of events in the Mexican capital that would throw light on whether our people there are safe.

In addition to the apprehension over the fate of Americans, the question of what is to be done in dealing with shipments of arms to the constitutionalists in northern Mexico is a momentous source of trouble at the present time. The border patrol in Texas has notified the war department that a number of unusually large shipments are enroute, consigned through El Paso to Juarez.

Menace to U. S.
The army and navy council of defense has made it very plain to high officials that these shipments of arms may prove a terrible menace to the American cause. They have recommended to Secretary Bryan that the president revoke his order issued some weeks ago raising the embargo on arms and put back into effect the prohibition of any shipments into Mexico. Secretary Bryan and his legal advisers have been examining the law and procedure generally, but so far no decision has been arrived at as to a course of action.

It was reported that one shipment had already been seized. This report for obvious reasons will not be discussed by army officials.

May Force Issue

Secretary Bryan has been given to understand that if the embargo is again placed on arms the constitutionalists may be expected to accept such action as a moral affront and immediately make close and common cause with Huerta. On the other hand, the army and navy officials responsible for our success in war have flatly warned the state department that if these munitions cross the border a great part will find their way into hands of men armed to oppose the American forces.

MEXICO RESOLUTION PASSED BY CONGRESS

A joint resolution justifying the employment by the president of the armed forces of the United States:

"In view of the facts presented by the president of the United States in his address delivered to the congress, in joint session on the 20th of April, 1914, with regard to certain affronts and indignities committed against the United States in Mexico, be it

"Resolved, by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled

"That the president is justified in the employment of the armed forces of the United States to enforce his demand for unequivocal amends for certain affronts and indignities committed against the United States.

"Be it further resolved

"That the United States disclaim any hostility to the Mexican people or any purpose to make war upon Mexico."

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 22.—(Bulletin)—Vera Cruz is now completely in the hands of United States marines. The federal soldiers have been driven out.

This information was given out by Secretary Bryan at 1:20 today, following a previous announcement that Fletcher had renewed his attack upon the Huerta soldiers holding the center and outlying portions of Vera Cruz.

Under the guns of the fleet, which began a heavy cannonade at 8 o'clock this morning, the marines then pressed forward into the city, driving the federals back.

VERA CRUZ, APRIL 22.—THE COMBINED FLEETS OF REAR ADMIRAL FLETCHER AND REAR ADMIRAL BADGER, (THE LATTER ARRIVED EARLY) THIS MORNING BEGAN SHELLING VERA CRUZ, KNOCKING DOWN THE HOUSES WHERE MEXICAN "SNIPERS" HAVE TAKEN REFUGE IN ORDER TO PICK OFF AMERICAN MARINES. THE LIGHTER GUNS OF THE VESSELS WERE USED AS THE FULL BOMBARDMENT POWER OF THE FLEET IS NOT NECESSARY.

The bombardment started at 8 a. m. today after Rear Admiral Fletcher had sent an ultimatum to the mayor and other officials remaining in the city.

Fletcher demanded that the officials see that firing on the marines holding the streets in the vicinity of the consulate, the customs house, and the wharves cease and that business be resumed. While awaiting a reply the marines merely held the depot and customs house. They returned the fire of the Mexicans directed at them from the roofs of houses and the streets. Machine guns were brought into play and several adobe buildings were demolished.

Consul Canada today estimated the Mexican casualties in yesterday's fighting at between 100 and 150. All of the dead and wounded were natives of low caste.

General Maas, commander of the garrison here could not be found today and it was definitely learned that he had fled with his family.

Two trains bearing American refugees arrived here from Mexico City today. TWO MORE TRAINS ARE ENROUTE, BUT THE RAILROAD IS BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN CUT BY THE FEDERALS.

While the fighting was in progress the mayor of Vera Cruz turned up and visited Consul Canada under a flag of truce. Nothing was accomplished in the conference which they held, however, and the marines began a house search for "snipers."

IN POSSESSION AT NOON

WASHINGTON, April 22.—All of the city of Vera Cruz was in the possession of the American forces shortly after noon today.

Three thousand American blue-jackets and marines were sent forward in formation of an extended crescent, driving the Mexicans before them out of the city.

Canada said: "All Vera Cruz was in our possession by noon." He also reported that the first and second sections of the train from Mexico City which carried women and children refugees, reached Vera Cruz safely before the fighting began yesterday.

Most of the refugees are in hotels and all are safe.

The big customs house warehouse caught fire during the fighting but the flames have been extinguished. Canada has sent messages to all hotel keepers offering them full protection, and ordering them to reopen their establishments.

Major Catlin and 300 marines are supporting Lieutenant Colonel Neville, who is in command of the entire attacking force.

Consul Canada has no further report on casualties and it is not yet known whether any additional Americans have been killed or wounded. The report continues:

"So far I have been unable to communicate with the embassy at Mexico City, but I am hopeful that I may yet be able to do so."

Ships Cover Attack
"Major Butler and his command from Tampico are now ashore, and the Florida, Utah, Arkansas, Vermont, New Hampshire, South Carolina and Prairie are lying in close, using their guns. The Hancock with its marines has been reported. The American forces which commenced their general attack at 8 o'clock, are operating under the guns of the war vessels. We have no details of Mexican casualties but believe that up to 8 o'clock last night 150 Mexicans had been killed or wounded."

lower legislative body. A feeble chorus of "noes" was drowned in a thunderous volume of ayes, and the resolution was concurred in by the house and sent post haste to the president.

Less than a half hour was required for the summary action of the house. The resolution was laid before it at 10:16. Fifteen minutes la-

BRYAN HASN'T HEARD HUERTA HAS DECLARED WAR

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Regarding persistent rumors in Washington that Huerta had declared war, Secretary of State Bryan today declared that he had no knowledge of such an event. He explained that he has heard nothing from Mexico City for forty hours.

HUERTA DEAD OR ALIVE TEXT OF ORDERS TO ARMY

If Military Is Called Into Action It Will March Straight for Mexico City

BLOODY MARCH TO THE CAPITAL

Progress of Relieving Column to Mexican Chief Town Will Be Most Difficult in History

BY JOHN E. NEVIN
(Staff correspondent of the United Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Huerta dead or alive!

That will be the order issued to the army should eventualities in Mexico force the president to use that branch of the service in the present Mexican crisis.

There is no doubt of that in the minds of officials here. The army general staff admits this. They expect that orders must come before very long despite the hope of the president and his advisers that after Vera Cruz is pacified Huerta will agree to make amends for past insults.

A member of the general staff, discussing with the United Press the failure to move the army up to the present, said:

"We are basing our non-action on three premises:

"First, that there will be no massacres of foreigners in Mexico City."

"Second, that Huerta will formally declare war against this country"

GOES THROUGH HOUSE WITH WHOOP

Fifteen Minutes After Presentation It Is Law; Declaration of War Expected to Follow

BY BOND P. GEDDES
(Staff correspondent of the United Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Congress today placed President Wilson in sole and absolute charge of hostilities against Mexico. The resolution "justifying" his course and giving him unlimited power to use our military force, was passed by both the senate and house. It was sent to him for approval at once. Wilson signed the resolution at 2:09.

Congress expects that a resolution declaring war will soon follow.

Following passage by the senate at 3:20 this morning by a vote of 72 to 13, of the Mexican resolution, the house at 10:28 today took similar action by a viva voce vote.

Post Haste to Wilson

No roll call was demanded in the

ter it was vociferously roared into law.

The senate had talked and disputed and quibbled over the words in the resolution. The house acted. There was practically no debate. Chairman Flood of the foreign affairs committee called up the resolution, as amended by the senate,

OLD COUNCIL HOLDS ITS LAST SESSION

Following Adjournment at Sparta, New Council Is Called to Order by the Mayor

SPARTA, Wis., April 22.—The old council held its last meeting in the city hall Tuesday evening to finish up their business. The meeting was called to order with all aldermen present. Reports of committees were listened to. The report of the city clerk, W. H. Blyton, shows a total expenditure of $31,974.52 for city purposes on 359 city orders. Upon completing its business the old council adjourned, and the new was called to order. Aldermen Burton, Sutherland, Bergman and

Steele were then sworn in. Bergman replaced F. E. Baldwin as alderman from the Third ward, and M. E. Steele took the place of Wynne Jones as alderman from the second ward. Mayor C. E. McMillan then announced committees for the ensuing year as follows:

Streets, sidewalks and bridges—Aldermen Kowitz, Jefferson, Brooks, Accounts—Aldermen Sutherland, Burton, Steele.

Finance and taxation—Aldermen Burton, Brooks, Jefferson.

Ordinances and resolutions—Aldermen Brooks, Smith, Bergman.

Printing—Aldermen Bergman, Smith, Sutherland.

Fire department, public buildings and grounds—Aldermen Jefferson, Burton, Steele.

Street lighting—Aldermen Steele, Burton, Kowitz.

Sewers—Aldermen Smith, Burton, Sutherland.

The next business was the election of officers for the new council. Alderman Burton, president of the council; W. H. Blyton, city clerk; Alderman Sutherland, comptroller, and Z. S. Rice, city attorney, were all re-elected. Chas. H. Miller was elected street commissioner to succeed E. I. Waring, who refused to serve longer on account of poor health. Supervisor G. F. Sellie of the Fourth ward was elected a member of the board of review; W. H. Baldwin was elected fire chief, and R. C. Wright weighmaster. William Burton, Dr.

Contests Friday
The league declamatory and oratorical contests are to be held Friday, night, April 24. The declamatory contest will be held in this city, and Miss Ruth Jewett and Miss Lora Axtell will contest for Sparta. The contest for league oratorical honors will take place in La Crosse, where Geo Mulack and Fred Steele will be the Sparta representatives.

The Monroe County W. C. T. U. held an institute in Temple hall today.

SPOTLIGHTS

"DAMAGED GOODS"
Richard Bennett comes to the La Crosse theater for one performance, Tuesday, April 27, in Brieux's startlingly frank play, "Damaged Goods," which was produced for the first time in America on March 14, 1913, and which enjoyed a long and successful spring and fall engagement at the Fulton theater, New York.

"Damaged Goods" deals with the social evil and the "social disease" and has as its theme a subject which has hitherto been tabooed on the American stage. The principal character is George Dupont, a young man who is suffering from a terrible blood disease. In spite of his physician's warning, he marries while still suffering from the infection, and in the second act, the author shows the terrible consequences.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

FRECKLES AND FREEDOM

By A. MARIA CRAWFORD

Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Ever since the days when they wore curls and pigtailed down their backs Polly Moore and Jane Sanford had championed the cause of Dan Cameron. Dan was not lovely to behold, for he had freckles and a shock of red hair.

The particular social set to which the small boys and girls of Dan's age belonged refused to admit him when he suddenly made his appearance in their midst. The snubbing accorded him by everybody except Polly and Jane, did not worry him in the least. He only laughed, called the boys "sissy" when they wore gloves or overshoes, and if they were foolish enough to disagree with him he proceeded to roll up his sleeves and thrash them until they were only too glad to be friends with him. Physical prowess impressed the girls, but they did not offer him the privileges of the juvenile elite. Polly and Jane were the exceptions. They refused to play games when Dan was not included, and at their own parties he was invariably the favored guest.

When he was nearly thirteen his family moved away, and when, four or five years after he had finished college, Dan returned to his childhood home, it was impossible to believe that the handsome, well-groomed young fellow could ever have been ornamented with hundreds of unsightly freckles and a mop of unruly red hair. The girls began pelting him with invitations. It was rumored that Dan's Uncle Alex had died, leaving him a splendid fortune, but even if he had possessed no wealth, Dan's good looks and charming manner would have insured him a welcome anywhere.

Dan's memory was evidently a good one. He courteously refused all invitations and spent his leisure time with either Polly or Jane. The girls were totally unlike except in their attitude to him. Polly was a little blonded with big soulful blue eyes and a certain sincere candor that was always expected to get her into trouble but never did. Jane was Juno-like with flashing black eyes and a cruel love of annexing everybody's beaux. Polly alone knew that Jane's engagement ring disappeared from her hand the day that Dan Cameron came back home.

"Jane will marry Dan. Just wait and see!" prophesied Kate Carter on the afternoon before the big masked ball at the country club. "She is supposed to be engaged to Cousin Dick Carter, and he is so silly about her that he is too blind to see her game. I hoped Dan would love Polly."

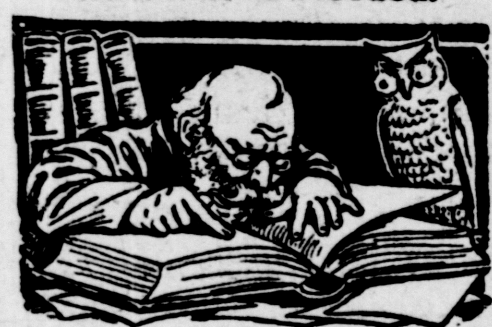

"Polly is the better of the two," declared Mabel Lupton. "Who would have dreamed that Dan Cameron with his freckles and awful hair could be magically transformed into a regular fairy prince? He has certainly paid us back in our own coin for our childish snubbing. He is polite to us but what a difference he makes when Polly and Jane are around."

"We were brought up with such absurd ideas of social prestige that the wonder to me is why we aren't even sillier than we are. Dan must laugh in his sleeve at some of our efforts to conciliate him. Isn't it too bad that we aren't born with the knowledge we have to acquire with such bitterness? I'll see you tonight at the club. What are you going to wear?"

"I wanted to wear Aunt Margaret's

Blood Tonic Has Important Meaning

Puts the Right Sort of Vim Where Most Needed.

To tone the blood means to enable it to throw off accumulated impurities, to increase the red corpuscles and to put the blood-making organs into such active condition as to produce that conscious sensation of what we feel as health.

This is the logical effect of using the famous blood purifier, S. S. S.

Let the people you meet complain of weary muscles, stagnant brain, languid nerves, and a wonderful desire to lay down and quit. Most of these people have been using medicine that spasmodically flares up the nerves only to die down again, as they must. Avoid nerve stimulants. S. S. S. is purely a vegetable product, and you will make a great mistake to have some enthusiast palm off a mercury, arsenic or iodine of potash preparation that may do you irreparable harm.

S. S. S. is prepared by The Swift Specific Co., 535 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and if you have any deep-seated or obstinate blood trouble, write to their Medical Dept. for free advice. It will be worth your while to do so.

"I Am the Most Fortunate Man Alive"

And he was a physical wreck at 40. Now he is 65, and by sticking to just two rules he fairly bristles with health. You know him. Almost everybody has heard of him. And every man and woman can do what he has done "I never have a headache: nor a pain." It is worth reading—this remarkable story by a remarkable man, in

C. C. SPINK DIES

ST. LOUIS, April 22.—Charles C. Spink, one of the best known sporting men in the United States, died this morning of stomach trouble, just one week after the marriage of his son, Taylor Spink, who with his father published the Sporting News.

MEALS HIT BACK? DYSPEPSIA, GAS, SOUR STOMACH—PAPE'S DIAEPSIN

Try it! In five minutes indigestion goes and stomach feels fine.

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress gone. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas, acid, or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diaepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest stomach doctor in the whole world, and besides, it is harmless.

Millions of men and women now

eat their favorite foods without fear—they know it is needless to have a bad stomach.

Get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diaepsin from any drug store and put your stomach right. Stop being miserable—life is too short—you're not here long, so make your stay agreeable. Eat what you like and digest it; enjoy it, without fear of rebellion in the stomach.

Pape's Diaepsin belongs in your home. Should one of the family eat something which doesn't agree with them, or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or stomach derangement, it is handy to give instant relief.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

How the Pig Saved the Old Woman.

VELYN had seen some very cunning little pink baby pigs that day, and she thought it would be lovely to have a little pig as a pet. Jack didn't think it would be so nice.

When daddy came home Evelyn's first question was, "Daddy, don't you think it would be lovely to own a little pet pig?"

"I think," Jack added, almost before Evelyn had finished asking her question, "that pigs aren't nice pets at all. They grow up too soon, and they look too cunning baby looks. Don't they, daddy?"

"Yes," said daddy, "pigs are nice on a farm. A farm wouldn't be complete without pigs, and the little ones are certainly very cunning."

"But just think how very lonely a little pig would be all by himself! And what would be more annoying, just think how he would squeal!"

"I don't believe," said Evelyn, "that I do want a pig, after all. Not as a pet, anyway."

"Now that we've decided that we won't have a pig as a pet, I think I will have to tell you the story of the old woman who did have a pig as a pet."

"This story shows how a pig's squealing, by the way, did once do a great deal of good."

"Once there lived an old woman all alone with her pig, and she had no great fault. She was very careless about fire and never cared where she threw her matches after she had lighted her fire."

"She made all manner of fun of the people who thought she was careless. But one time she learned a very good lesson, and she realized then that one cannot be too careful with fire."

"She was on her way to bed and before getting into bed lighted a fire in a little stove. Instead of throwing her match into the fire she threw it in the waste paper basket.

"The waste paper basket was full of scraps of paper, and slowly the match began to smolder. The old woman meantime went sound asleep.

one of the things to be considered
was a reduction of the Wisconsin
good roads fund. That, of course,
was upon the ground that they were
excessive. Perhaps it is impossible to say just what is and what not excessive in the way of road expenditures, but something may be haz-arded upon a comparison of the progress of various states. The Good

the following state funds for road
work are now available:Iowa $7,310,000
New York 6,000,000

Milwaukee's new administration—

who have been in office the past two years—were sworn in yesterday to begin another term. An innovation
this year was the offering of prayer
at the council session. City Clerk
P. F. Leuch suggested the idea in the hope that it would become a permanent practice.Mayor G. A. Bading, re-elected after one term will have a number of offices to fill. The mayor offered no
hint as to who would be chosen for the places.One of the most important places to fill is that of health commissioner. Dr. F. A. Kraft, the present commissioner, has said that he will
not accept the place for another term. Besides this office there are several others which pay all the way
from $1,800 to $4,000 per annum.

Following Directions

There was a terrible noise coming
from the direction of the dining room and the fond mother, alarmed,
rushed in. On the floor her son,
aged 10, was going through all manner of contortions—somersaults, both backward and forward. Bang, bang, he went."Willie! Willie!" she cried, "What are you doing? You'll—"For a moment Willie paused in his gymnastics. "Oh, it's all right,
mother!" he gasped. "You see, I forgot to shake my medicine before
taking it—like you always told me
to do. So I thought I'd shake myself up as the medicine was inside

Not Tender Enough

A noted New York architect said of a recent criticism of skyscrapers:"The criticism is not fair. It is prejudiced. Hence it will do more harm than good—like the remark to the waiter."Waiter, confound it! This steak isn't tender enough!""Not tender enough?" the waiter snarled. "Ah, what do you expect? Do you want it to jump up and hug and kiss you?"

Leaving it to the Pitcher

Not in ten years has Christy Mathewson been taken out of the box by McGraw, unless possibly under some
condition where strategy demanded
a pinch hitter, or a man batting from
base runner. This may surprise a million or more fans. Box scores may be produced to dispute it. But that is a case where the box scores are wrong. When Matty comes out, he takes himself out. He knows when he is not "right," and is not ashamed

TO MEXICAN WATERSThe following ten minutes tested her patience to the utmost. Presently she heard the banging of a trunk-lid. He was there. And now
that he was there, she, who had always taken pride in her lack of feminine nerves, found herself in the grip of a panic that verged on hysteria. Her heart fluttered and missed a beat. It had been so easy to plan! She was afraid! Perhaps the tension of waiting all these hours
was the cause. With an angry gesture she strove to dismiss the feeling of trepidation by walking resolutely to her door. Outside she stopped.What was she going to say to him? The trembling that struck at her knees was wholly a new sensation. Presently the tremor died away, but it left her weak. She stepped toward his door and knocked gently on the jamb. No one answered. She knocked again, louder.

"Come in!"

"It wouldn't be proper," she replied with a flash of her old-time self. "Won't you please come out?"She heard something click as it struck the floor. (It was Warring-ton's cutty which he had carried for seven years, now in smotherers.)
She saw a hand, raw knuckled and bleeding slightly, catch at the curtain and swing it back rattling upon its rings.

"Miss Chetwood?" he said.

"Yes. Oh, you've been hurt!"

She exclaimed, noting the gash upon his forehead. A strip of tissue-paper (in lieu of court-plaster) lay soaking upon the wound; a trick learned in the old days when razors grew dull over night."Hurt? Oh, I ran against something when I wasn't looking," he explained lamely. Then he added eagerly: "I did not know that you were on this gallery. First time I've put up at a hotel in years." It did not serve."You have been fighting! Your hand!"He looked at the hand dumbly.
How keen her eyes were!

"I know!"

"You do?" inquired.

"Was it . . . Mallow?"

"Yes."

"Did you . . . whip him?"

"I . . . did," imitating her tone and hesitancy. It was the wisest thing he could have done, for it relaxed the nerves of both of them.

Elsa smiled, smiled and forgot the substance of all her rehearsals, forgot the letter of credit, warm with the heat of her heart. "I am a looking toward the sunset. "Fighting

"I believe that squares accounts," said Warrington, speaking to Craig."If you hear of me in America, in Europe, anywhere, keep away from the place I'm likely to go. Tell him,"
with an indifferent jerk of his hand toward the insensible Mallow, "tell him that I give him that fifty pounds
with the greatest good pleasure.
Sorry I can't wait."He turned back to his rickshaw, wiped the blood from his face, put
on his hat and coat, and ordered the respectful coolie to hurry back to town. He never saw Mallow or Craig
again. The battle itself became a hazy incident. In life affairs of this order generally have abrupt endings.And all that day Elsa had been waiting patiently to hear sounds of
him in the next room. Never could
she recall such long weary hours.
Time and again she changed a piece
of ribbon, a bit of lace, and twice
she changed her dress, all for the purpose of making the hours pass
more quickly. She had gone down to luncheon, but Warrington had not come in. After luncheon she had sent out for half a dozen magazines.
Beyond the illustrations she never knew what they contained. Over and over she conned the set phrases
she was going to say when finally he came. Whenever Martha approached,
Elsa told her that she wanted nothing, that she was head-achy, and
wanted to be left alone. Discreetly Martha vanished.To prevent the possibility of missing Warrington, Elsa had engaged

came pattering up at a quarter to six."He come. He downside. I go, he

ASKS FUNDS TO RETURN CITIZENS
Wilson Requests Congress for $500,000 to Bring the Americans Out of Mexico
WASHINGTON, April 22.—In a special message to both houses of congress this afternoon the president asked an appropriation of $500,000 for the bringing of Americans out of Mexico.
The message was as follows:
"In view of the exigency created by the existing situation in the republic of Mexico, I recommend the immediate passage by the congress of an act appropriating $500,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary to be placed at the disposal of the purpose of providing means to bring to their homes in the United States American citizens now in Mexico."
The senate adjourned immediately after receiving the message. The members were worn out with their late session last night.

Spanish War Boys at Meeting Last Night Pass Resolution Endorsing the President

CIVIL WAR VETERANS APPROVE
Message to Executive Carries with It Names of the Members of Local Camps of G. A. R.

Pledging endorsement to President Wilson in his actions and in any future course he may take in Mexico, eighty Spanish war veterans met last night and unanimously passed a resolution of support which was immediately wired to the president. The endorsement carries with it the endorsement of the local Grand Army men, the civil war veterans being honorary members of Casberg camp, No. 11, U. S. W. V.

The resolution adopted follows: "Assembled on the 16th anniversary of the first call for volunteers in the war with Spain, Casberg camp, No. 11, U. S. W. V., including as honorary members, the two local posts of the Grand Army of the Republic, Wilson-Colwell post, No. 38, and John Flynn post, No. 77, pledge our unanimous endorsement and support to the president of the United States in all measures which may be taken for the protection of American citizens and the restoration of peace and order in Mexico."

W.S. Jamesson Who Fought with Boys in Gray in the Civil War, Dies as Result of Fall

W. S. Jamesson, a resident of La Crosse for thirty years, died this morning at 9 o'clock at his home, 908 Mill street, as a result of a fall last February which, with his old age, 72 years, caused his death.
Mr. Jamesson was born March 1, 1842, in Centerville, Fairfax county, Virginia. When the civil war broke out, he joined the confederate forces. He came to La Crosse thirty years ago, and had lived here ever since.
Besides his widow, Mrs. Lella Jamesson, he leaves five children, Mrs. W. N. Berry and Malcolm and Albert Jamesson of La Crosse, Mrs. T. D. Budd of Cheyenne, Wyo., and W. W. Jamesson of Dillon, Mont., one brother Malcolm of Idaho and two sisters, Mrs. R. B. Derr of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. George MacRae of Centerville, Va.

A TONIC FOR DYSPETICS

When food lies undigested in the stomach it ferments and gas forms. This gas distends the stomach and presses on the heart, causing a pain that sometimes arouses fear of heart trouble. The condition in which gas forms is caused by a low tone of the digestive organs and a lack of rich red blood resulting in deficient nerve force. It is a condition that calls for a tonic.
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a tonic for the blood and nerves, have been used with great success in the treatment of this form of stomach trouble. Cold baths in the morning followed by brisk friction with a rough towel will help as they stimulate the circulation but a tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by building up the blood, restoring the nerve force and making the stomach able to do its work gives the most lasting benefit. With their use the appetite increases, digestion becomes normal and improvement in the general health follows with certainty.
You are trying no experiment when you take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They cannot harm the most delicate system.
You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the nearest drug store. A copy of the diet book "What to Eat, and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.
Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.
This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

MAGNATE'S HOME GOES
CHICAGO, April 22.—Wrecked by a series of mysterious explosions, the home of Harlow N. Higginbotham, Chicago multi-millionaire, at 2900 South Michigan avenue, one of the finest residences in the city, was swept by fire today and almost totally destroyed.

We have just received a great many new and useful things in our new invoices of goods, new silverware, cut glass, engraved glass, new bracelets, lockets, pins, etc. The new styles are very pleasing. You have an urgent invitation to call and see all of these new and pretty things. Better call today.

WILL INVESTIGATE CITY DEPARTMENTS

Board of Trade to Name Committee to Find Way for Greater Municipal Economy

With a view of promoting greater economy and efficiency in city departments the municipal affairs committee of the La Crosse board of trade, at a noonday meeting at the La Crosse club, passed a resolution calling for the appointment of a committee of five to investigate the methods of the board of public works and other departments.

Those who spoke on the proposition were Messrs. Frank Winter, E. S. Hebbard, Mayor Sorensen, R. B. Gelatt, A. Hirschheimer and ex-Mayor John Dengler.

Many of the speakers did not hesitate to declare their belief that greater efficiency and economy can be secured for the city by a better and more modern management of city affairs.

The committee will be named later.

RUSH TROOPS TO BORDER

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 22.—Additional troops were rushed today from Fort Rosecrans to the Mexican border near Tia Juana. Two additional field guns were taken. Mexican federalists there are throwing up entrenchments and a desperate engagement is expected when the United States troops attempt to take the customs house.

POPE PLEADS WITH HUERTA

CHICAGO, April 22.—The Chicago Daily News this afternoon prints a dispatch from its Rome correspondent, declaring that the pope has cabled the apostolic delegate in Mexico, instructing him to ask President Huerta to yield to the United States to avert further bloodshed. The News correspondent says that several foreign rulers have sent similar messages to Huerta.

LOCAL COMPANIES VOTE TO SERVE IF WAR CALL COMES

Tribune Polls Them

Early this morning The Tribune began a poll of the companies. Of the sixty-five men in Company M, forty-four were reached, and every man answered that he would vote to go. As forty-four is a majority of the company, the vote puts it on record as ready to serve.

The canvass on Company B is incomplete, less than a majority having been reached. But of the fourteen interviewed, every man promptly and emphatically declared he would vote to go, and Capt. John M. Bradley says he will vouch that every man in his company will respond in the affirmative.

Capt. F. H. Fowler of Company M says he is certain that not a man of those not reached will oppose entering the service in Mexico, and there is every indication that the vote of both companies will be unanimously in favor of serving in Mexico, if need be.

Those Who Voted

Following is a list of the members of the local companies who voted in favor of accepting service in Mexico:

COMPANY M

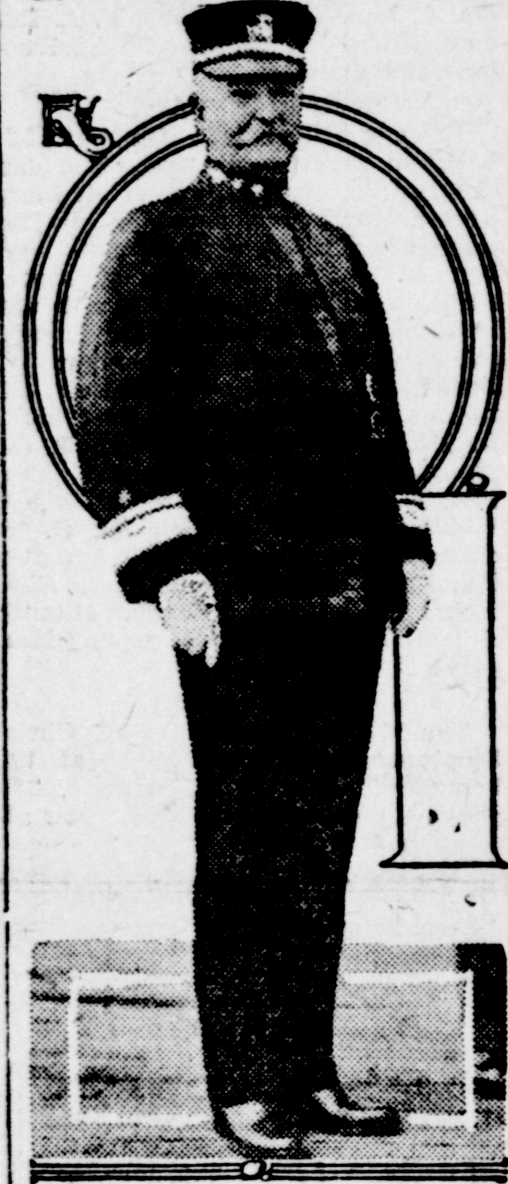

Frank W. Griffie, 813 Badger; Ernest Hodous, 1216 West avenue south; Alfred F. Holtz, Onalaska; John A. Hartung, 930 Adams; Fred E. Johnson, 514 South Eleventh; Raymond B. HUERTA PLAYS BILLIARDS

CHICAGO, April 22.—Victoriano Huerta plays billiards—between battles—on a Chicago made table.

Huerta's order on the Mexican treasury for $1,000 was received in payment for his billiard room equipment by a local firm.

"He plays several games every night," says a letter from the Mexico City agent.

When Your Little Child

cries at night, tosses restlessly and mutters in its sleep, is constipated, fretful and feverish, or has symptoms of worms, you feel worried and have your night's rest disturbed by the little one's crying, or perhaps because of your own anxiety.

Many thousands of mothers rely at such times upon a tried and trusted remedy always kept in the house.

Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for Children.

Used by mothers for 24 years. These powders cleanse the stomach, act on the liver and give healthful sleep by regulating the child's system. Easy to give and pleasant for the child to take.

Happy mothers in every community are using them with splendid results.

Mother, if your child has the symptoms here described you should try these powders. Your druggist has them. 25c a box. Don't accept any substitutes.

HALF HUNDRED REPORTED DEAD IN THE FIGHT

Two-thirds of the Known Dead Are of Families of the Striking Miners

MANY BURN TO DEATH IN TENTS

Rifle Shelter Pit Under Tent Gives Up Bodies of 13 Children and 2 Women

DENVER, Col., April 22.—It was announced at the governor's office today that five coal mine guards had been killed by the strikers at the Delagua mine of the Victor-American Fuel company, Delagua, Colorado. The killing is supposed to be an outgrowth of the fourteen hour battle fought at Ludlow Monday.

DENVER, Col., April 22.—All Colorado shuddered with horror today as the details of the fourteen hour battle fought at Ludlow Monday were revealed in newspaper dispatches from Trinidad and official reports to Acting Governor Fitzgerald from militiamen in the field.

Thirty-three known dead, more than two-thirds of whom are women and children, a score missing and more than a score wounded—this is the toll taken by the battle which the United Mine Workers and other labor organizations have already named "The Slaughter of the Innocents."

To Fight Again
With arms ready, both sides at daylight today awaited a resumption of the blood-letting and fears were expressed that should it be renewed the slaughter will equal if not exceed that of Monday. Several companies of militia, recruited from mine guards employed by the coal operators, are encamped at Ludlow. Monday they drove the strikers from their tent colony at Ludlow and it is charged, set fire to the tents, thereby causing the greatest loss of life.

Early today, Trinidad dispatches say, they were prepared for a machine gun sortie from their position along the Colorado and Southern railroad tracks at each side of the Ludlow railroad station. On the surrounding hills, sheltered by rocks and boulders, 400 strikers awaited their coming while their ranks were being swelled by grim faced men who had tramped overland in the darkness, carrying guns and ammunition from neighboring union camps. Italian, Greek and Austrian miners have appealed to their consular representatives for protection.

If another battle is fought its outcome may determine the fate of the strike of union coal miners in Colorado. Both sides face it as a battle to the death, without thought of quarter.

Strikers Demand Arms
In Trinidad the situation is scarcely less acute. Strikers crowded about the union headquarters, and with the image of the flaming tents of Ludlow before their eyes, demanded guns and cried for an opportunity to attack the mine guards and militia.

Ludlow camp is a mass of charred debris. In the holes which had been dug under the tents for their protection against rifle and machine gun fire, women and children perished when the flames swept over their colony. One pit, uncovered late yesterday, disclosed the bodies of thirteen children and two women.

STATE BANKERS TO DISCUSS RESERVE

E. M. Wing, vice president of the Batavian National bank, and other Wisconsin bankers, will meet in St. Paul Friday, there to formulate plans for the federal reserve bank recently located at Minneapolis by a local firm.

The session will be in the morning. In the evening they will be banqueted and listen to an address by George W. Reynolds, Chicago.

Other bankers to attend the meet are F. J. Carr, Hudson; F. W. Humphrey, Shawano; E. J. Perry, Fond du Lac; Carl Rudquist, Ashland; J. W. Dennigan, Stevens Point.

VILLA HURRIES TO JUAREZ TODAY

Commander in Chief of Carranza's Forces Expected with Heavy Guard Today

WASHINGTON, April 22.—No word has come to officials regarding what they can expect from Carranza and the constitutionalists. There is a general belief that they will oppose the United States.

At the constitutionalist junta here it is admitted that the situation is grave. Carranza is reported to have expressed the belief that Mexicans should unite against a common enemy. Villa is rushing toward Juarez. As a result stringent orders have been issued to the border patrol to redouble its vigilance.

Regimental, battalion and troop commanders have been ordered to hold their men in check and to enforce the strictest discipline. Nothing is to be done that might tend to inflame the Mexicans or to show that the administration has changed its belief that the "great mass of the Mexican people are our friends."

The view that the rebels will aid Huerta is apparently negated by the following dispatch from El Paso: "EL PASO, Texas, April 22.—General Francisco Villa, supreme commander of the Mexican constitutionalist army in the field is expected to arrive in Juarez today with a strong escort of troops. It was announced that he came to visit his family but it is believed that the real reason is that General Carranza desired Villa to direct affairs in Juarez during the present crisis and to prevent the Juarez constitutionalist garrison doing anything that would involve the rebels with the United States."

ARREST PARK SPEEDER
An employee of the Hofweber auto garage was arrested this morning on complaint of Park Foreman Geo. Ritter for exceeding the speed limit in Levee park.

TOM MORRIS' SON RECRUITS FIVE MEN FOR GUARD COMPANY

Howard Morris, 18-year-old son of Lieut.-Governor Thomas Morris, is a young local patriot who has been enthused over the prospect of actual fighting in Mexico and the chances of the local militia to see a part of that fighting.

When President Wilson ordered the fleet to Tampico, Young Morris, knowing that Company M, of which he is a member, did not boast its full fighting strength, started out for recruits. He got them. Captain Fowler is authority for the statement that he was instrumental in securing five new men for the guard.

Young Mr. Morris is reticent on the affair, declining to take the credit for securing the new national guardsmen and claiming that "I just talked to them—they probably would have joined anyway."

CHARGE ALGARA REPRESENTING HUERTA WILL DEMAND HIS PASSPORTS FROM THE U. S. BEFORE MIDNIGHT TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Unless he is anticipated by the United States government, and its acts, Senor Algara, the Mexican charge here, will ask for his passports sometime between now and midnight tomorrow night, unless in the meantime the present difficulty with Mexico has been amicably adjusted. This was learned by the United Press from a high diplomatic official source this afternoon.

It was stated that Algara had communicated his intention to two of the foreign embassies here. He explained that he had been given discretionary order by General Huerta and that he was now convinced after an examination of precedents, that the only thing left for him to do will be to demand his passports and return to Mexico. While this will not necessarily mean a declaration of war, it will mean a complete cessation of diplomatic intercourse between the administration and Huerta and will force this government to direct O'Shaughnessy to close the United States embassy in Mexico City and come home.

When told that this information had been secured from a local embassy, Senor Algara refused positively to comment on it.

"Third, that the constitutionalists will not join him.

"Of course, should word come before the army moves that there has been assassination in Mexico City, the marines and bluejackets now at Vera Cruz must necessarily form a relieving column and make a forced advance on the capital, and that will be the bloodiest march in American history, I fear. General Scott had to divide his forces at Pueblo because of the mountains beyond there in whose passes a small force can wipe out a much greater one trying to advance.

"If the army moves it has been given thoroughly to understand that its object will be to get Huerta, alive or dead."

WOULD GUARD IRRIGATION

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 22.—Gov. George W. P. Hunt announced that as soon as permission was received from the war department he would order the Arizona state militia, consisting of 600 men, to guard the irrigation levees south of Yuma. These levees are part of the system which supplies hundreds of thousands of acres of land in the Imperial valley of California.

Madero Regrets American Lives

NEWARK, N. J., April 22.—

"It is an awful pity," said Evaristo Madero, youngest brother of the late Francisco Madero, martyred president of Mexico, when informed at his East Orange home today that four American marines were killed in the landing force that seized the customs house at Vera Cruz.

"It is an awful pity that American blood must be shed on Mexican soil," said Madero. "We can only hope for the early settlement of affairs and pray that no more Americans will lose their lives."

Madero, who is a graduate of Cornell university and a linguist of ability, has stated that the only evidence of anti-Americanism in the southern republic has existed in the Huerta controlled press of the capital.

Most things wear out with constant use but a bad temper seems quite different.

Minneapolis, Minn.

THE NEXT AND THE LAST OF THE GREAT WESTERN CANADIAN RAILWAY SEAPORTS

PORT HARDY is at the Northern end of Vancouver Island, British Columbia. It is the only protected deep water port on the northern half of the Island.

PORT HARDY is one of the three possible deep water ports on the outward seaboard of Western Canada—the others are Victoria and Prince Rupert.

PORT HARDY is one day closer to the Orient than any other deep sea port on the Pacific coast—one day closer than Victoria and Seattle—four days closer than San Francisco.

PORT HARDY is the registered terminal of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Notice and location of terminal filed with Dominion Government Railway Department at Ottawa.

PORT HARDY, as a terminal, gives the Canadian Pacific Railway an advantage of one day over all other systems, except the Grand Trunk Pacific, in the Oriental haul.

PORT HARDY, as a terminal, places the Canadian Pacific Railway on a parity with the Grand Trunk Pacific at Prince Rupert, Rupert being the same distance from Oriental Ports.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY is now built to within ninety miles of Port Hardy and is extending the line as fast as steel can be delivered.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY announces its rails in Port Hardy within two years, possibly in a shorter time, for there are no difficulties of construction in the way.

PORT HARDY TOWNSITE consists of 2,700 lots, every lot 50 by 110 feet to a fourteen-foot lane with no lot at a greater distance than half a mile from the government docks.

PRICES OF PORT HARDY LOTS are based upon the present actual value of fore shore acreage on Hardy Bay plus the estimated cost of advertising and selling.

PORT HARDY is offered the buying public, not as an investment, but as a safe speculation---It is offered wholly and solely upon its bona fides--We have no statements to make in this connection, and will make none, which cannot be confirmed instantly by Canadian government records and maps, or by reference to leading banks of British Columbia--Our line of reference will be opened to you for the asking.

Port Hardy Townsite is owned by the Port Hardy Terminal Company of Victoria, B. C.

Title is from the government by Crown Grant to Lawrence Goodacre and by Lawrence Goodacre to the Canadian Financiers, Limited, a general trust company of Vancouver and Victoria, which is trustee for the Port Hardy Terminal Company.

The Canadian Financiers, Limited, deliver Torrens Deed upon the maturity of all contracts of sale and all contracts are made with the trustee.

GOVERNMENT COST IS NOT EXCESSIVE

State Official Says Figures Purporting to Show Expenses Were Multiplied Ten Times

WISCONSIN'S LESS THAN OTHERS

Commissions in Wisconsin Do Work Given to Others in Minnesota and Other States

MADISON, Wis., April 22.—Officials at the state capitol made quick response to the statement published here that it costs more to run different departments of the state government here than it does in Minnesota, by showing that the correct statements of Wisconsin expenses had been "grossly exaggerated" and that the commissions in Minnesota did not cover the same character of work as in Wisconsin.

"penses ten fold," was the assertion of J. C. MacKenzie, secretary of the State Agricultural society, when shown the statement giving the expenses of maintenance of the State Agricultural society as $150,000 annually compared with $42,000 for the state of Minnesota.

Figures Multiplied

"How any man of intelligence could make this mistake is beyond human reason. The facts are: There is an annual appropriation of $15,000 state aid to the State Agricultural society of Wisconsin—not $150,000. The total cost of maintenance has never exceeded the sum of $7,000. The balance of this amount has been used for the maintenance of the state fair grounds at Milwaukee. Of this $7,000, $4,850 is expended in salaries of secretary and clerical help; the remaining $2,150 is spent for the expenses of members of the state fair board attending monthly meetings and their per diem while acting as superintendents of different departments of the state fair.

Work is Varied

"The Wisconsin library commission has two fields of activities which no other of the thirty-seven libraries maintains," said M. S. Dudgeon, when shown the statement showing that the Wisconsin library commission was more expensive than in Minnesota. "None of these others conducts a library school nor does any other commission maintain a legislative reference library. The appropriation for the legislative reference library is separate from the appropriations for the general work of the library commission and amounts to $21,000, leaving a balance of $34,080 available for the general work of the commission including library extension and visitation, traveling libraries, study clubs and library school work.

"So far as we are able to learn the Wisconsin library commission maintains supervision over fully twice as many libraries as does the Minnesota commission and in addition gives very much more detailed information. The Wisconsin commission sends from one to four boxes of books to each of the seven hundred rural communities, which otherwise would be practically without good reading matter. The Minnesota commission reaches about one-half as many communities. The Wisconsin commission supplies seventy-five lumber camps with reading material. Minnesota has not taken up this work. Twenty-one thousand eight hundred and eighty dollars of the library commission appropriation is available for and used only in legislative reference work. The Minnesota commission does none of this work."

James Has Figures

Albert E. James, statistician for the state commission, in a lengthy statistical statement makes a comparison of the work done by the tax commissions of Wisconsin and Minnesota, which shows the large amount of work done by the Wisconsin commission that is attended to by other official departments in Minnesota. Minnesota has no income tax, the inheritance tax is administered by the attorney general in Minnesota and in Wisconsin by the tax commission, the Minnesota commission does not install systems of municipal accounts nor does it value its forest lands.

"Wisconsin is doing some things through the tax commission that Minnesota does through other bodies, a fact that reduces the cost of the Minnesota commission," declares Mr. James.

"The Church and The Bible." A portion of his remarks follow:

Attitude Toward Bible

"The real attitude of the Catholic church toward the bible has never been rightly understood by the Protestant people. Years and years ago it was the common belief of a large section of the non-Catholic world that the Roman church was the enemy of Holy Writ; that she prevented her children from reading the scriptures and that for generations and generations the bible was practically a closed book for Catholics. Enlightened people at the present time know these were not true—the church never has been the enemy of the bible. A perusal of the writings of our great men in all times from Cyprian and Gregory The Great to Thomas Aquinas and Bernardin of Sienna demonstrates that these men were well acquainted with the scriptures. More than that, it is a well known fact that before the reformation there were eighty-four editions of the bible in modern languages, ninety-eight editions in ancient languages and at least six hundred and twenty-six editions of the bible spread in Catholic countries alone.

"The church, however, maintains that all christianity is not to be learned from the bible alone. The bible is not the sole rule of faith, it is a holy book and inspired, but was never intended to be a charter of christianity. This is proven from the fact that in the very earliest years of christianity there was no such a thing as a bible as we now have it. Conservative critics say that the first book of the new testament was not written until the year 53 at least. Now, the Christians in that time were called upon to believe truths, the justification of which could not be found in the Old Testament. What conclusion is to be drawn? Either they had not christianity or there is some other rule of faith than the bible. The canon of the New Testament and of the Old Testament for that matter was a matter of dispute until the year 350. The church had not definitely decreed what books belonged to the bible and what did not. The people had practically no knowledge of the scriptures save what they heard read in the synagogues and at their love feasts. They did not learn their christianity from Holy Writ. Who will deny that they were not Christians? And again the conclusion is forced upon us, either the bible is not the sole rule of faith or these people were not Christians.

"In conclusion Protestants are not to misunderstand the Catholic position toward the bible; we respect the book as the word of God; we revere it, but Protestants had placed the bible in a position which it was never intended to occupy by Christ. It was never to be a complete summary of christian teaching. The church was in existence before a line in the New Testament was written and could exist were there no such a book as the bible. Under her supervision every word was put down. Paul was a christian before he wrote. Matthew was a christian before he penned his gospel, and so were Luke and Mark and John and the others; they did not learn their christianity through any book; they heard the word preached and they believed and they were saved.

Point of Controversy

"If a man takes the bible and the bible alone as his rule of faith how is he going to know whether or not it is inspired—this is the crucial point of the controversy. Until it is decided Protestants cannot claim that the scriptures are the word of God—what is their authority for quoting them? The question must be decided by some other court than the bible, for there is not one word in both testaments to show that the scriptures are inspired. How does the Protestant world know that the bible as they have it is the bible that was intended by Christ if they take the bible and the bible alone as their rule of faith? How do they know that Peter ever wrote an epistle or that the gospel known as St. Matthew's was written by him? These questions must be answered and a solution found before Protestants can logically take the scriptures and them alone as a basis for their religion."

INFORMATION

The La Crosse Philharmonic Society at the present time consists of an orchestra of nearly fifty pieces, amateurs and professionals. This concert will be given by the orchestra, assisted by Ralph Toland, baritone, as soloist.

This society has been enabled to give this concert by public and private contributions, receiving to date about two hundred dollars, and much more has been promised. Those who believe that a first class musical organization is a good thing for the city, have the opportunity to subscribe. Checks should be sent to the treasurer.

The objects of this society are the general promotion of good music, the providing and organizing of a first class orchestra with a view to the eventual formation of a symphony orchestra.

This concert is to demonstrate one thing; that there are enough musicians, amateur and professional, in this city to form an orchestra deserving of the financial and moral support of the entire city.

at a meeting of the Equal Suffrage club at library hall last evening. There was a large and enthusiastic attendance.

Among the features that were tentatively adopted will be an auto parade, with the cars decorated with suffrage colors. It was also decided that a banner bearing the suffrage colors, orange and black, will be stretched across Main street in the business district. A page in the daily newspapers of the city will be devoted to suffrage news, edited by the women.

Mrs. Carrie Daniels is in charge of a committee to circulate the suffrage amendment petitions; Miss Anna Mashek is in charge of the arrangements for the suffrage day celebration, and Miss Grace Gesell was named as chairman of the program committee for the day.

JUST OUT OF NAVY READY TO RE-ENTER

Wenzel Hanus Who Served on Ships and in Marine Corps Says He's Ready to Respond

WHIPPING MEXICO TEDIOUS TASK

Says It Will Not Be Accomplished in Few Days as Most People Think; Climatic Conditions Bad

Four years' service as an American marine and just out of the navy after serving a four year enlistment, Wenzel Hanus, 1110 Market street, son of Ambrose Hanus, today announced that he was ready and willing to re-enlist any time it became apparent his services would be of value to the United States.

Mr. Hanus, when in the marine corps, rounded the horn with the American fleet when it circled the globe and remained in the service until 1910. Then, after a brief vacation, he re-entered the service of his country as a machinist in the navy and served until March of this year. Most of Mr. Hanus' most recent service has been in South America.

"I've served eight years," said Mr. Hanus today, "and am ready to enlist any time my services are needed. I am undecided whether to re-enter the navy or join the army. I believe I shall enter the navy, however. If I do I shall request assignment to a battleship."

Mr. Hanus, who in 1908, visited various Mexican ports, believes the United States will have tedious work in the event of a real war with Mexico. Climatic conditions will be an obstacle of no mean proportions.

"They'll have to chase the Mexicans around, picking them one at a time," he said. "While there is no doubt of the outcome it will take much longer time than most people believe."

ITCHING ECZEMA IS DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Use like cold cream to subdue irritation and clear the skin.

Constant or intermittent irritation producing itching and red, angry Eczema patches on the skin is easily relieved with bold-sulphur cream. The moment it is applied the itching stops and the healing begins, says a noted dermatologist.

It effects such prompt relief, even in aggravated Eczema that it is never-ending source of amazement to physicians.

For many years bold-sulphur cream has occupied a secure position in the treatment of cutaneous eruptions by reason of its cooling, parasite-destroying properties. It is not only parasiticide but also antipruritic and antiseptic and nothing has ever been found to take its place in overcoming irritable and inflammatory affections of the skin. While not always establishing a permanent cure, yet in every instance it instantly stops the agonizing itching; subdues the irritation and heals the inflamed raw skin right up and it is often years later before any Eczema eruption again appears.

Those troubled should get from any pharmacist an ounce of bold-sulphur cream and apply it directly upon the affected skin like you would any ordinary cold cream. It isn't unpleasant and the prompt relief afforded is very welcome, particularly when the Eczema is accompanied with itching.

FLETCHER ORDERS MAAS TO STOP FIGHTING ON PAIN OF BOMBARDMENT

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The White house made public today Admiral Fletcher's proclamation to the city of Vera Cruz. It is as follows:

The Alcalde Jefe Politico and The Citizens of Vera Cruz, Mexico:

It has become necessary for the naval forces of the United States of America now at Vera Cruz to land and to assume military control of the customs wharves at Vera Cruz. Your co-operation is requested to preserve order and to prevent loss of life.

It is not the intention of the United States naval forces to interfere with the administration of the civil affairs of Vera Cruz more than is necessary for the purpose of maintaining a condition of law and order to enforce such sanitary conditions as are needed to meet military requirements.

It is desired that the civil authorities of Vera Cruz shall continue in the peaceful pursuit of their occupation. Under these conditions full protection will be assured to the city by the United States naval forces.

It is enjoined upon all inhabitants and property owners to prevent firing by individuals from the shelter of their houses upon United States forces or upon anyone else. Such firing by irregulars not members of an organized military force is contrary to the laws of war; if persisted in will call for severe measures.

VERA CRUZ, April 22.—General Maas, military commander of the Mexican federal troops here, is reported to have fled from the city with his family. Many of the city officials are also said to have fled.

A scout returning from the center of the city early today reported that he and many of the city officials left town with their families in carriages yesterday shortly after noon.

Today what is left of Maas' command is scattered throughout the central portion of the city. A large number have deserted.

Late last night many of the Mexican troopers were found in a drunken stupor wandering about the streets. Two small liquor stores were sacked by the men.

Fletcher gave just two hours' notice of his intention of landing forces yesterday. In fact only the consuls and the city officials knew of the impending attack. The inhabitants were ignorant of the meaning of the activity of the American ships observed in the harbor and flocked toward the water front.

Story of Battle

Six hundred American marines and bluejackets, under Captain Russ and Captain Fryer of the Prairie, and Captain Harlee and Lieutenant Murray of the Florida, yesterday took Vera Cruz.

The American forces landed at 11:30 a. m. on Terminal company pier No. 5, without meeting the enemy. A switch engine was captured and a squad sent to occupy the power house. Without incident the men proceeded to the cable office where the Mexican government censor and everyone in the building was taken.

A squad was left in the offices to hold them against possible attack. The troops proceeded. There still was no sign of opposition. They went in turn to the general telegraph offices, postoffice and customs house, all of which were seized.

Just at 12:25, a few moments after the customs house was seized, the first Mexican troops appeared. Apparently unmindful of the fact that Mexican soil had been occupied, and government officers taken by force, the Mexican soldiers, numbering about 800, marched slowly toward the customs house from the principal street which leads from the Vera Cruz barracks. They wheeled toward the plaza, where they suddenly broke into squads and dashed into private residences and other buildings, windows of which commanded the customs house.

First Shot at 12:45

Precisely at 12:45 the first shot was fired. Mexican soldiers hidden in houses took a shot at a squad of marines. Instantly shooting became general. Machine guns were pointed down all streets and at points where Mexicans had sharpshooters in the buildings.

It was also necessary to train field guns on several buildings where citizens were on the roofs and were keeping up desultory fire.

Up to six o'clock no effort had been made to venture into the central portion of the city. It was believed the Mexicans had completely withdrawn at 4 o'clock. To guard against return, Captain Russ established outposts three to four blocks from buildings occupied, the strongest guard being about the barracks, which were entered without finding a soul shortly after 3 o'clock.

During a slight skirmish between troops at the custom house and Mexicans stationed in nearby houses, a company of Mexicans occupied the tower of an old light house, which gave clean of those districts occupied by Americans.

A three inch field piece was trained on the tower under command of Ensign Crespe, of the Florida. The sailors took five shots at the tower. All struck squarely and amidst dust, flying bricks and debris, the Mexicans fled in disorder.

Threatens Bombardment

Vera Cruz will be bombarded today by the American fleet under Rear Admiral Fletcher if further resistance is shown the marines and bluejackets now in possession of the section of the city about the United States consulate, the customs house, cable office and the wharves.

This warning was sent to General Maas, military governor of Vera Cruz, and commander of the federal garrison, late last night.

When day broke today Captain Russ and Lieut. Col. Neville, commanding the landing force, controlled the water front and all streets in the vicinity of the consulate. They were content to hold what they had taken and made no advance toward the central part of the city.

Rear Admiral Badger, commanding the fleet originally headed for Tampico, is now outside the harbor. The American forces will be able to land upwards of ten thousand men if necessary, and the complete wrecking of the town is threatened should the Mexicans resume the fighting.

Stop to Save Women

The city hall and the main plaza of Vera Cruz would have been taken by the Americans last night, but for the fact that there are hundreds of American women and children in the Hotel Dilencas on the main plaza. In the event of resistance it was feared the hotel might have been raided by Mexicans or set on fire in the fighting.

The greatest uneasiness is felt here today for a passenger train loaded with Americans which left Mexico City yesterday morning and has not been heard from. Absolutely no word has been received as to the possession of the train. The federals have cut the lines to Mexico City and it is feared may also have broken communication by rail.

FEAR MASSACRE OF AMERICANS IN THE INTERIOR

Gravest Burden of Mexican Situation Is the Peril to Our Citizens

HOLD ARMY READY TO START

EXPECT HUERTA TO DECLARE WAR

Probable that He Will Make Vain Appeal to Powers for Aid Against the United States

BY JOHN E. NEVIN
(Staff correspondent of the United Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Over-shadowing everything else in the Mexican situation today was the position of the many Americans and other foreigners in the interior of that country.

Grave apprehension for them was felt by every officer of the administration.

Sinister rumors of anti-American massacres at several points have been circulated. They are, fortunately, not confirmed, but they served to add to the general fear that a bloody story of treachery will yet be told in connection with the events immediately following the land of Fletcher's marines and blue jackets at Vera Cruz.

Officials Anxious

President Wilson, at the White house, Secretary Bryan at the state department, and Daniels at the navy department, all were anxiously utilizing every avenue for news.

They tried to maintain an air of optimism, but failed to convince callers that it was genuine. They realized that the savagery of the native Mexican could hardly be restrained once he comprehended that Americans had invaded his country.

No word as to the plans of the administration was forthcoming early today. President Wilson himself sent strict injunction to his subordinates not to talk. There was to be no leaking of secrets of war.

There was a direct wire set up from the war department to the army docks at Galveston, where four transports with a brigade in khaki lay tugging at their anchors. Military telegraphers manned each end of the wire. Other wires were set up to the concentration camp at Texas City; to Fort Bliss and other strategic points on the border. The army was ready—far more so than ever in its history.

Despite the most recent developments it was stated at the White house today that while the situation is very grave the president still hopes that a general war can be prevented. He is almost alone in this view.

Expect Declaration

Officials expect Huerta to declare war within a few hours. If he does, it is expected that he will also personally appeal to the powers for help against the United States, thereby paralleling the action of Spain in 1898.

In fact reports are already in possession of the state department which indicate that Huerta has already appealed to Japan and Germany.

While it is not believed that there will be any foreign interference (in fact it is stated by no less an authority than the president and secretary of state themselves that there will be none), no chances are being taken. Bryan has personally kept the representatives of every government here informed of what is going on. In addition, our ambassadors abroad have been directed to explain to each government that there is no plan of territorial aggrandizement contemplated.

Praise Fletcher

Officially the capital is still without any of the details of the stirring events at Vera Cruz other than the meagre reports of Fletcher and Badger. Everyone is singing Fletcher's praise. He has met emergency after emergency with credit to himself and the flag.

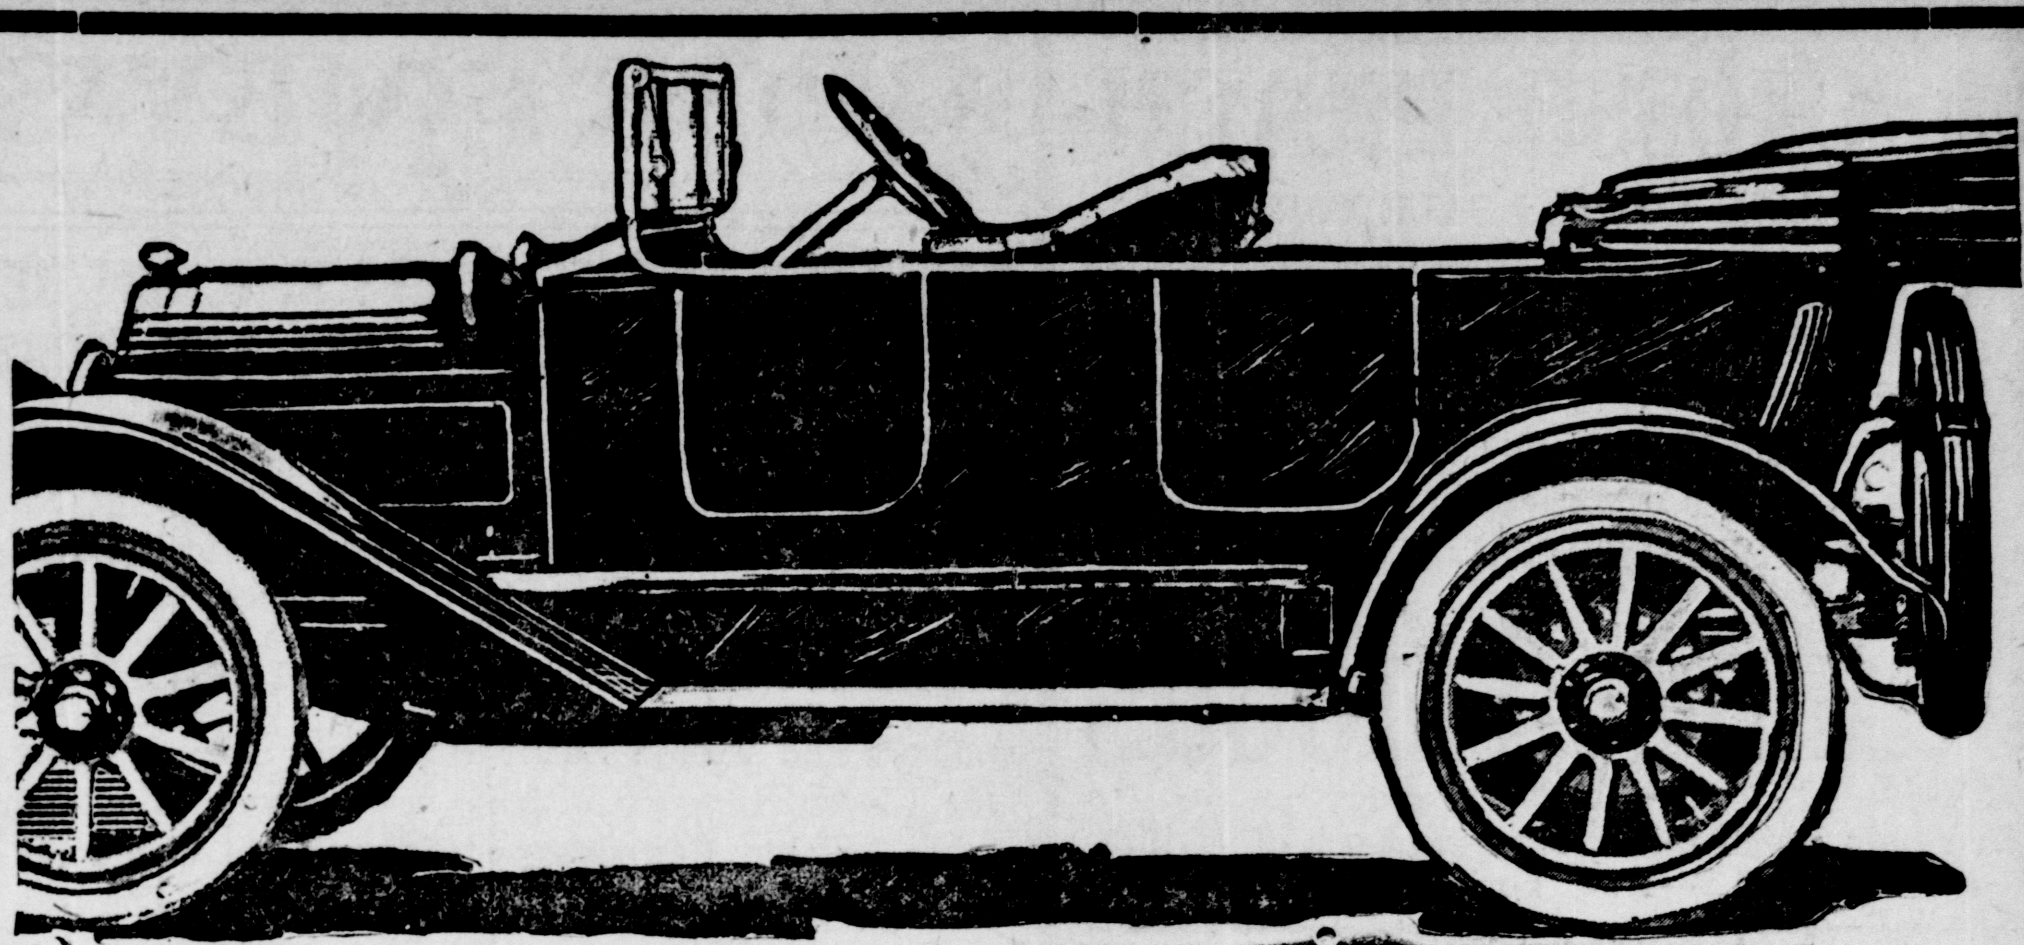

Extraordinary precautions have been taken by the United States for the protection of Mexicans here. Instructions have been sent to officials wherever there are Mexican colonies, especially in the west, that the utmost care must be taken to prevent assaults.

the fleet commander that a landing was contemplated he called General Maas on the telephone and in the name of the naval commander demanded the surrender of the city.

Maas replied that this was impossible. He asked time for a parley. Canada said he had no authority to grant this, and the first detachment of marines then landed at the Porfirio Diaz pier, now known as Terminal company pier No. 5.

While the Americans were taking possession of the city the German ship Ypiranga was outside the harbor with the great consignment of guns and ammunition for General Huerta. The captain refused to surrender his cargo to Rear Admiral Fletcher, but the latter did not press the issue.

Last night it was the intention of Captain Rush to await some move by the Mexicans before taking further action. The main purpose of

Here is a Real Big Sensation

IN FACT, IT IS THE BIGGEST THING IN THE WAY OF AN AUTOMOBILE ANNOUNCEMENT EVER MADE PUBLIC IN THIS COMMUNITY.

HERE it is in a nutshell:

We are going to sell the famous Maxwell "35s" on the Club plan.

This is going to create a big stir hereabouts, and we know it.

We've been talking the matter over with several of our best friends for some time, and they were unanimous in saying, "Go to it."

Now we are going to do some talking in print. We want your closest attention.

As you know, a good many cars are heavily advertised—boosted to the very skies.

This costs money. Somebody must pay for it—and somebody does. That somebody is generally the man who buys the car.

We Are Going to Sell Maxwell "35" on the Club Purchasing Plan.

It is something that has never been done with a Maxwell "35," and we suppose when the Maxwell makers find it out they will haul us over the coals. But never mind that now.

We are not going into purchasing details here. We will talk that over when you come in to inspect the car.

BE SURE AND READ THESE SPECIFICATIONS CAREFULLY

The Maxwell "35" is a handsome, fully-equipped, electric-lighted and electric-started, substantial, silent, safe, family automobile. It has all the style—all the quality—all the comfort, and all the durability of any high-priced car on the market.

MOTOR

The motor is 4-cylinder, and is cast in bloc; this is the only kind of motor that they will accept in Europe, the home of the automobile; 4 1/2 inch stroke, 4-inch bore; 35 h. p. cylinders and upper half of crank case integral.

IGNITION POSITIVE AND OF HIGHEST QUALITY

The Maxwell "35" has the Split-dorf dual system magneto, with 4 dry cells for easy starting; kick switch and round coil on dash.

TRANSMISSION THREE-SPEED SELECTIVE SLIDING GEARS

The Maxwell "35" has three speeds forward and one reverse; selective sliding gear transmission mounted on rear axle; nickel steel, heat-treated gears, mounted on noiseless bearings throughout.

CRANK SHAFT AND CAM SHAFT OF CHROME NICKEL STEEL

The crank shaft is chrome nickel steel and very strong. All bearings are nickel babbitt cast in case and caps.

Cam shaft; has three bronze machine bearings; cams integral; bronze bushings, mushroom tappets, lifted by large cams, giving quiet valve operation.

CARBURETOR — ECONOMICAL AND EFFICIENT

The Maxwell "35" has a special carburetor, which has only one adjustment. It is controlled from the dash. It is a great gasoline saver and sure in action in any temperature.

LUBRICATION — THOROUGH BUT ECONOMICAL

The lubrication on the Maxwell "35" is by splash system. The lower half of the crank shaft is an oil container. Cast as part of case is an oil reservoir which operates on the vacuum system, keeping a constant oil level in lower half of crank case.

COOLING—WATER, PUMP AND FAN

The Maxwell "35" has large tubular radiator with gear-driven centrifugal pump and fan.

CLUTCH—CONE TYPE

The clutch is cone type with leather face, and spring plunger under leather for quiet and easy engagement. Single heavy spiral spring at center; enclosed square block type universal joint.

STEERING AND CONTROL

The manufacturers of the Maxwell "35" have built so much real worth into this car that no wide margin was left for advertising, unless they increased the selling price.

We're going to switch things a bit around.

We are going to let YOU get some of the benefit.

For some time we've been looking into the Maxwell "35"; and we find that it is a really Wonderful Car.

Inside and outside, in every feature of construction and equipment it is as good a car as you can want, and its quality has always been top notch.

The more we thought about the Maxwell "35" the greater our confidence in it became.

Finally we said to ourselves: We're going to bring some of these cars to this city and sell them to our friends and to their friends.

We are going to make special terms, going to offer you the best inducements that can be extended.

Just now we are more interested in telling you about the car itself, in giving you a word picture in type of this fine, big, roomy, 5-passenger automobile.

Not merely a car, but a decidedly handsome family automobile, one that's full of smart style, that represents economy and durability, that holds down the upkeep cost.

steering wheel. Accelerator pedal. Foot pedal operates 14-inch external brake. Hand lever operates 13-inch expanding internal brake.

SPRINGS

The front springs are semi-elliptic, 36 1/2 inches long. Rear springs are 3/4 elliptic, 42 inches long, shackled at both ends. Lower half are mounted on swivel seat, making expensive shock absorbers absolutely unnecessary.

ELECTRIC STARTING AND LIGHTING

Deaco electric starting system with individual generator and motor is one hundred per cent efficient—never fails. Lighting electric, operated by two-button switch on dash.

EQUIPMENT—HIGHEST QUALITY AND ABSOLUTELY COMPLETE

The equipment of the Maxwell "35" includes electric starter, top, envelope and Jiffy curtains, clear-vision windshield, speedometer, electric horn, electric side, head and tail lights; tire carrier and full set of tools.

The biggest automobile value ever known—brand new—at the price of a second-hand car—your great opportunity—on easy terms.

ARMY NOT FOR HUERTA

WASHINGTON, April 22.—"Huerta will not get the cargo, no matter what disposition is made of the German ship's consignment of arms to the Mexican government," said Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador following a half hour's conference with Secretary of State Bryan and John Lind today.

The heaviest firing upon the marines and bluejackets, who were commanded by Captain Rush, from the battleship Florida, and Lieutenant Colonel Neville of the marines, came from the naval cadets in their school building near the water front.

When the cadets opened fire the

are still uncertain. More than a score of persons were found dead in the streets, but as much of the fighting by the Mexicans was done from housetops and from windows, and the marines picked off many of these sharpshooters, it is impossible to make a definite estimate of the number killed.

Much of the firing on the American forces came from civilians as well as the regular troops. The resident section of Vera Cruz was quiet last night, however. Lights were out and doors barred and few ventured upon the streets.

Desultory firing was kept up until 6 last night. The marines and bluejackets swept the streets and the roofs of buildings with rifle fire and drove back the Mexicans who replied intermittently.

DENY BRYAN RESIGNS

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Secretary Tumulty at the White house this afternoon officially denied a report ed circulated today that Secretary Bryan had tendered his resignation to President Wilson as the result of the bloodshed at Vera Cruz. Tumulty said the story was absolutely without foundation.

BADGER AT VERA CRUZ

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Word was received at the navy department early today from Admiral Badger, stating that he was then three hours' run from Vera Cruz. The secretary of the navy believes Badger has reached Vera Cruz now. The torpedo boat flotilla accompanying the fleet has been diverted to Tampico.

GETS K. O. BUT HE GOES THE ROUTE

Hammond Skeeter's Cleverness Saves Him from Trouble at Hands of Billy De Foe

Practically knocked out by a blow to the body in the opening round, Johnny Moran of Chicago came back last night, and for the nine remaining rounds fought off Barney O'Neil of Oakland, Cal., who proved to be one of the most vicious and savage mixers who has appeared before the local club. So well did he come back, that in two of the ensuing rounds, he shaded O'Neil, and once, in fact, seemed to have him nearly out.

Moran seemed to lack experience as a boxer, but he had two blows of great effectiveness, which he used repeatedly. One was a straight left, with which he stood off O'Neil's rushes with great success, and the other a smashing right uppercut, which tottered O'Neil time after time.

The first round looked as if the bout would end quickly. O'Neil started like a cyclone, raining a shower of blows upon Moran, and rushing him about the ring. Finally, in Moran's corner, O'Neil shot two rights to the body, and Moran collapsed. He took the count of nine, and when he rose, claimed a foul. Referee George Duffy called Dr. Friend A. Suiter, who made an examination in the ring, and decided that Moran had not been fouled and was able to continue.

In the second round Moran started distressed, but as it wore off, he regained himself, and fought back O'Neil's wildest rushes in good style. Finally he slipped over a right uppercut that sent O'Neil to his knees. It was Moran's round by a narrow margin.

In the third round Moran started out well, making a good lead, which he lost when he attempted to clinch and stopped a hard right to the ribs, going down for the count of two. He was worried for the rest of the round, but he staved off O'Neil's rushes and received no further damage.

The fourth round was a fast and furious affair, with each man punching freely. Barney bared in constantly, and was stopped generally by Moran's straight left. Moran also landed repeatedly with his right uppercut, doing considerable execution.

In the fifth Moran had a slight shade. He had the best of O'Neil in the clinches, and rocked him once with a right to the jaw. He went down himself, but it was a stumble. He was not hit. The round closed just as he shoved over a hard right to the jaw.

Moran Nearly Winner
In the sixth round Moran started out in great form, getting in a half dozen telling punches before O'Neil landed once. After a clinch, he swung a terrific right upper cut to Barney's jaw, and the latter hung on, his eyes glassy. Had Moran followed up his advantage, he would apparently have laid away the Oakland boy, but he was tiring fast, and stood away until Barney came back. After a little clinching, O'Neil rallied fiercely and had a little better of the mixing.

From the sixth on Moran was done. He was tired shortly after the start of each round, although he came back with flashes of speed in which his right snapped O'Neil's head back occasionally. The tenth round started out fast, each man apparently trying for the K. O., but Moran lacked the stamina to keep it up, and O'Neil could not land hard enough.

De Foe Too Strong
Skeeter Joe Bishop, Hammond feather, met more than his match in his eight round mill with Billy De foe, Red Wing. Not that Bishop was outclassed. He was right with De Foe all the way through, and he was undamaged at the finish. But he was unable to hurt De Foe with his punches, and only his marvelous foot work saved him from stopping a sleep producer time and again. De Foe showed a speedy heavy punch, which several times slammed Joe into the ropes. Joe danced around him, sending in nearly blow for blow, but could not even check De Foe's rushes.

Young Sampson demonstrated his courage and toughness again in his six round second prelim with Tommy Tague of Hammond. Tague showed like an experienced ringster, and he packed the most vicious punch of any fighter of the evening. Sampson, however, has learned much since his last bout, and he covered in such excellent style that Tommy couldn't land the haymakers anywhere but on the top of the fireman's head. Sampson was outpointed and outpunched but he was neither outfought nor outgamed. He was mugged and damaged considerably, but was fighting back at the end of the sixth round almost as strongly as at the beginning. He was only in danger once, when Tague slid a left swing around his guard. Sampson tottered, but his iron jaw saved him. He clinched and managed to cover up until he came back.

Foy Stops Joelner
The opener went but five rounds. Ed Foy stopped his opponent, Fritz Joelner, in the fifth, after hitting him at will all through the match. Foy far outclassed his opponent as a boxer, and would have finished him in the fifth but for the interference of Duffy when Joelner was leaning helpless against the ropes.

Why Should I Smoke TUXEDO?

TUXEDO is the logical smoke for millionaires because it is impossible to buy a better tobacco.

Tuxedo is the logical smoke for the economical man because there are 40 pipefuls in a ten-cent tin—making the average cost per pipeful only one-fourth of a cent!

To buy cheaper tobacco means to get less pleasure out of smoking, because it is impossible to make a tobacco as good as Tuxedo at less than the Tuxedo price!

Tuxedo

The Perfect Pipe Tobacco

Tuxedo is made of only the finest, choicest selected leaves of perfectly aged Burley tobacco. It is made by the original Tuxedo process which takes all the unpleasantness out of tobacco and leaves all the pleasantness in!

Tuxedo has a deliciously mild, fragrant aroma that is pleasant to all. It is the only tobacco you can smoke in a room full of lace curtains without leaving even a trace of an odor.

A trial will convince you that Tuxedo is superior to every other tobacco you have ever smoked. Buy a tin—today.

"Unorganized Militia" Can Be Drafted Only After System of Choice by Chance

HAVE MORE THAN SIXTEEN MILLION Available Fighting Strength of Wisconsin 2,787 Militia and 494,940 Citizens Liable for Service

While every male citizen of the United States, under the terms of the militia bill, is liable for service in the army, militia officers here today explained that status of the citizen not a member of a national guard regiment remains about the same as it was before the passage of the bill. Citizens not members of militia companies cannot be made to take arms except after selection by a system of draft by lot, it was explained.

To Help Department
The provision of the bill was made, it was explained, in order to give the war department officials data on the available forces. The number of citizens available for duty in each state is estimated from the number of males between the ages of 45 and 18 and from these figures, the war department officials estimate just what regiments can be raised for war service if required.

With this data it is possible to arrange complete details for mobilization and rapid handling of troops in emergencies of war. In this connection it is interesting to observe the number of fighting men available from the various states. It is estimated that the total available "unorganized militia," or citizen soldiers who are in line for duty if the country's need demands, is 16,004,683. To this may be added the organized militia from the states and territories with a strength of 113,279 men. The regular army of some 90,000 men is not included in this statement of the possible fighting strength of the United States.

Wisconsin's Strength
In Wisconsin the National guard numbers 2,787 enlisted men and 195 commissioned officers. The "unorganized militia" numbers 494,940, according to war department figures.

The Minnesota national guard has an enlistment of 2,608 men and 216 officers. The reserve of "unorganized militia," is estimated at 225,000 men.

LA CROSSE BOY HELPS TAKE CITY

One La Crosse boy, Otto Molzahn, 609 North Fifteenth street, participated in the capture of Vera Cruz. Molzahn is a marine aboard the U. S. S. Utah, which has been in the harbor of Vera Cruz for the last six weeks. Vera Cruz was captured by the marines and sailors from the Utah, Prairie and Florida. In a recent letter received here from Molzahn, the La Crosse boy told of revolting scenes of cruelty in the streets of Vera Cruz and declared that he and his comrades were awaiting action with impatience.

UNLOAD ARMS

VERA CRUZ, April 22.—The German steamer Ypirango docked early today and the American marines immediately took possession of the 15,000,000 rounds of ammunition and 250 field guns consigned to Huerta. The cargo of the Ypirango was unloaded at the customs house which is held by the Americans.

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks
NEW YORK, April 22.—Prices showed little change from yesterday's close at the opening of the stock market today. In view of Mexican developments the market's action was considered remarkably good. Noon—The market was dull during the morning. Prices were irregular and there was weakness in some issues. Heavy pressure on Union Pacific caused to sell off to 196, compared with 200 at yesterday's close. 2 p. m.—Little business was transacted in the early afternoon. Prices were firm. The market closed strong.

New York Money
NEW YORK, April 22.—Money on call 1 3/4%. Time money 3 3/4% for 6 mos. Prime Mercantile 3 1/4% to 4%. Bar Silver: London 26 13-16; New York 58 1/2 c. Demand sterling 4.87.15.

Kansas City Livestock

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 22.—Cattle—Receipts 4,000; market steady; steers $6.50 to $9.25; cows and heifers $4.75 to $9.00; stockers and feeders $6.50 to $8.25; calves $6.50 to $9.75.

Hogs—Receipts 8,000; market 5 to 10c lower; bulk $8.20 to $8.40; heavy $8.30 to $8.42; medium $8.25 to $8.40; light $8.10 to $8.30.

Sheep—Receipts 11,000; market steady to 10c lower; lambs $6.25 to $8.10; ewes $4.50 to $6.25; stockers and feeders $3.50 to $6.75.

Chicago Livestock

UNION STOCK YARDS, Ill., April 22.—Hogs—Receipts 20,000; market slow; 5 to 10c lower; mixed and butchers $8.30 to $8.60; good heavy $8.20 to $8.57; rough heavy $8.10 to $8.20; light $8.25 to $8.55; pigs $7.00 to $8.25.

Oat—No. 3 white 38 1/2 to 38 3/4 c; No. 4 white 38c; standard 39c.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, April 22.—Wheat was 1/2 to 1 1/2c higher today, active buying starting at the opening on theory that the market was oversold. Pit leaders were shown that the Mexican situation would have no decided effect on the market.

Corn opened with excited bidding and jumped 3/4 to 1 1/4c at the start, making only a fractional gain thereafter. Cable advices from Argentina to the effect that torrential rains were doing serious damage caused shorts to rush to buy.

Oats moved up 3/4 to 1/2c on account of the bulge in the other grains.

Provisions were firm and higher. The upward movement in corn and wheat continued in the afternoon with afternoon gains of 1/4 to 3/4c. Oats advanced 3/4 to 1/2c before the close.

U. P. STAFF MAN GETS BIG SCOOP

Correspondent's Code Messages Slipped Out of Mexico City Only Uncensored News

(Editor's Note — The following item was received today by The Tribune from its press service, the United Press. The note to editors which accompanied the story on the wire may be of interest. It follows: "Editors: Hereafter we will use Shepherd's name. This has been impossible heretofore on account of personal danger to him.")

Credit for the first big "scoop" of the war belongs to William G. Shepherd, staff correspondent of the United Press in Mexico City. Last Friday he succeeded in getting past the censor a message written in code which brought to the United States the first announcement that Huerta desired war. Shepherd's message, translated, read: "General Huerta wants a declaration of war. This is his object in the present negotiations over the Tampico incident. He had been in almost constant conference with the cabinet and congress. It became known today that it is now his desire to bring about warfare between Mexico City and the United States on the theory that it will solidify the Mexican people in spite of his otherwise doomed government." Developments of Saturday, Sunday and today have completely borne out Shepherd's code message. William G. Shepherd served through the Madero campaign as a staff correspondent of the United Press, going into Mexico City with Madero and covering his election and inauguration. He then returned to the United States, and following assignment to cover the Olympic games at Stockholm, was detailed a year on staff correspondent assignments in Europe. He was recalled after the assassination of Madero sent to Mexico where he has been in charge of the United Press forces to the present time. For reasons which are obvious the use of Shepherd's name heretofore has been impossible on account of the war kept by Huerta on the work of American correspondents. Shepherd remains in Mexico City as long as American officials remain. He will then join the American forces nearest the scene of action.

NEWS OF BATTLE OF VERA CRUZ ENTHUSES MAJESTIC AUDIENCE

When it was announced from the stage of the Majestic theater last night that American marines had occupied the city of Vera Cruz after an encounter with the Mexican federalists in which 100 of the latter were killed, the audience started prolonged cheering. The La Crosse Tribune's "extras" telling in detail the facts of the Vera Cruz fight, were distributed throughout the audience. When enthusiasm was at its height the orchestra struck up the "Star Spangled Banner," standing as they played—and the audience, catching the spirit, with one accord, arose and sang the song to its finish.

Tells Positive Cure For all Foot Troubles

Science has proven that nearly all foot troubles originate from a common cause, that of injured tissues. The following formation will be welcomed by thousands of victims of daily foot torture. No matter how many patent medicines you have tried in vain, this treatment, well known to foot doctors, will do the work. Dissolve two table-spoonsful of Calceide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet for a full fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts. The effects are marvelous. Pain disappears instantly and the feet are simply delightful. Corns and callouses are peeled right off. Bunions, aching feet, sweaty smelly feet get immediate relief. Use this treatment a week and your foot troubles will be a thing of the past. Calceide works through the pores and removes the cause. Don't waste time. Get it once. Any druggist has Calceide in stock or will get it from his wholesale house. Twenty-five cent box is said to be enough to cure the worst feet. Don't be persuaded to take something else instead. Calceide is prepared only at laboratories of Medi Formula Co., of Dayton, Ohio, and Chicago, Ill.

START PLANS FOR COMMENCEMENT

will deliver the commencement address and Rev. I. G. Smith of this city, has been selected to deliver the invocation on that evening. The class play is "She Stoops to Conquer" by Oliver Goldsmith. Those who have been selected for the speaking parts of this play are Donald Compton, Raymond Reinhard, George Nichols, William Nuzum, Robert Murray,

The program for class day has not as yet been given out. A class of forty-six will graduate from the high school this year, which is the largest in the history of the school. There are several buildings, and residences being erected this year and it promises to increase the growth of the city. Work is progressing on the building of the Franz Bros. and the foundation has been laid for a residence of Mr. Ralph Taft which will be completed before the summer months.

The steam roller and stone crusher, which were used here last summer when new roads were being built, were shipped away on Tuesday.

Nearly all the concrete mixers belonging to the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway company have been shipped to points west after being over hauled and painted in the Tomah shops.

E. J. Hentington of Chicago is visiting relatives here.
